TRAFFIC BLOCKED WHEN INSPECTORS ARE "LOCKED OUT"

If Demands of Carmen's Union Are Not Granted a Sympathetic Strike of Railroad Men May Be Called.

DISCHARGE OF ONE MAN CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

Labor Representatives Say That He Was Let Out Because He Declined to Withdraw His Card From Union.

Following a "lockout" of the force of car inspectors, stationed at the Terminal station, last night, when outgoing trains were delayed for several hours, well-known members of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America asserted that if the demands of the union were not granted by the Atlanta Terminal company it was likely a sympathetic strike would be declared. In this event, the car inspectors at the Inman Yards and the South shops, both of which are auxiliary shops of the Atlanta Terminal company, would leave their jobs.

Also a well-known member of the Brotherhood of Engineers declared that the car inspectors had the sympathy of the engineers, who expected to stand by them in their demands.

Traffic Is Tied Up.

The "lockout" came at the busiest hour of the night, and it was nearly midnight before Chief Clerk Rogers and Station Master Peek, of the Atlanta Terminal company, were able to announce that normal traffic conditions were restored, and that outgoing trains were moving on schedule.

Southern train, No. 44, to Washington and New York, and the Dixie Flyer to Jacksonville, were both delayed for over an hour, and all other trains leaving about 7:30 o'clock were more or less late.

However, the officials of the Atlanta Terminal company expected trouble, and were prepared for the emergency. More car inspectors than were needed were on hand within a few hours, and even Master Mechanic Akins answered the call to duty.

Fearing that violence would be attempted by the men "locked out" and their sympathizers to enforce their demands, the officials called in Policeman Byron Benson, and asked him to request headquarters to send a squad of special plainclothes police to the Terminal station to guard all outgoing trains.

Special police officers and special railroad detectives were constantly on guard at the Terminal station last night to prevent any demonstrations.

Cause of the Trouble.

The "lockout" was declared Monday evening by J. F. McCreery, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America. It affects just six men. This action was taken, he says, because the Terminal company discharged an inspector last Friday for refusing to withdraw his card from the carmen's union.

Labor representatives state that they have done everything possible to avert this critical situation. After the "lockout" was declared telegrams were sent to the officials of the several railroads entering the Terminal station requesting them to come to Atlanta immediately for an adjustment of the conditions. Under the contracts with these lines and the carmen's union, J. F. McCreery said that they would have thirty-six hours in which to do this, before a stage of the situation should be reached where the federated employees of the various roads could be involved and traffic discontinued.

Last Thursday, it is charged by the federation officials, C. H. Putnam, chief inspector for the Terminal company, approached C. M. Doster, a car inspector, asking him to withdraw his card from the Carmen's union. When he refused, Putnam is alleged to have threatened him with a discharge. I. F. Flynn, another inspector, swears in an affidavit that Putnam then made him the same demand, telling him of the conversation with Doster. The following day Doster was discharged for "unsatisfactory service."

E. V. Whittle, general chairman of the carmen's committee of the Southern railroad and its affiliated lines, states that he could get no satisfaction from R. T. Pace, superintendent of terminals for the Terminal company, concerning his order, when Pace was visited Monday. Pace, he asserted, stated that the Carmen's union had threatened his company and that he would not discuss the situation. Pace denied that Doster had been discharged for belonging to the union.

RIGHT LEG OF BERNHARDT CUT OFF BY SURGEONS

Bordeaux, February 22.—(Via Paris.) The right leg of Madame Sarah Bernhardt, the famous tragedienne, was amputated today at St. Augustine hospital at Arcachon.

The operation, made necessary by an affection of the knee which has caused much suffering for several years, was performed by Professor De Luce, of the Bordeaux university.

Professor Pozzi was to have conducted the operation yesterday, but he was called to the colors to serve at the Val-de-Grace hospital in Paris, and found it impossible to leave his duties for several days. Madame Bernhardt refused to submit to a delay of what she courageously called her release from bondage.

A bulletin issued immediately after the operation said:

"The operation was decided upon at a consultation on February 13 of Professors Pozzi, of Paris, and Denuce and Arnozan, of Bordeaux. It took place on Monday morning, and was endured under the best conditions. The condition of Madame Bernhardt after the operation also was as good as possible."

WHERE MERCHANT SHIPS HAVE BEEN SUNK AROUND BRITAIN AND THE DISTANCES TO THE GERMAN SUBMARINE BASES

The war zone proclaimed by Germany includes the entire coasts of all the British isles and the coast of northern France, including the English channel. In these waters already the following ships have been sunk, indicated by numbers on the map: 1, Admiral Ganteaume, October 26; 2, Malachite, November 23; 3, Primo, November 26; 4, Durward, January 21; 5, Icaria, January 30; 6, Toko Maru, January 30; 7, Linda Blanche; 8, Ben Cruachan, and 9, Kilcoan, all sunk January 30; 10, Ville de Lille, and 11, Dulwich, sunk on February 16, and 12, Clitra, sunk on October 20. In addition to these vessels the French steamship Dinorah (No. 13) and the Norwegian steamship Belridge (No. 14) were torpedoed by German submarines in the English channel, but did not sink.

POLICE SITUATION TO BE DISCUSSED

Orville Hall to Lead Police, Provided He Is Indorsed by Majority of Both Factions at Early Conference.

At a forthcoming conference which will be participated in by leaders of both factions in council to determine the future status of Atlanta's police department, it is understood, according to statements given out Monday, that Colonel Orville H. Hall, slated for the place of inspector of police under the new order of things planned, will accept the place provided he is indorsed by a majority of both factions.

Colonel Hall has indicated in interviews that he will accept the place under the above conditions. He says that if Atlanta's general council is determined to have a military man to govern the police department, and if he is assured that it is the aim of the council to increase the efficiency of the department and not to play politics, he will go into the conference prepared to make known his decision.

Cut Out Politics.

"I don't regard it as a good movement to put a military man at the head of the police force unless the office is cut off from politics," Colonel Hall said. "As a matter fact, I don't think that those who are behind the movement want a military man for the reason that such a man will demand too much discipline and some are likely to resent the authority of such a person. However, as I understand it, the matter is still young and has plenty of time to develop."

It was stated Monday on good authority that a conference is planned for this week. This meeting will be for the purpose of learning, if possible, how many members of the general council are opposed to changing the status of the department, also to learn how many are in favor of reorganization as outlined exclusively in Sunday's Constitution.

Councilman Edwin Johnson, chairman of the police committee, who has recently taken an active interest in the police department because of his connection with the police board as

The Covert Cloth Suit

There is an old saying among our grandmothers that fashion is nothing more than a huge circle that keeps going around and around and around.

And those wise old ladies clung to their quaint jewelry, their heavy brocades, their ancient style of coiffure, and the like, until the circle continued to revolve and each of these styles "came into its own again."

The circle, as it reaches us today, brings with it again the covert cloth suit which was so popular some ten or fifteen years ago.

Stores, whose advertisements appear daily in The Constitution, are showing attractive models of the covert cloth variety, and these are being seized with avidity by the "up-to-the-minute" woman, who recognizes in them a smart and chic style for spring wear.

School in Flames Panic Is Averted By Brave Teacher

Miss Anna Campbell, Principal of Lakewood Heights School, Is Congratulated by Superintendent Merry.

While 450 pupils of the Lakewood Heights school, on Sawtell avenue, just outside the city limits, were humming their A B C's or studiously engaged at other tasks, Monday morning fire broke out in the roof and was burning fiercely when a frantic woman living in the neighborhood rushed in and cried fire!

Miss Anna Campbell, principal of the school, happened to be nearest the school bell when the excited person entered. Miss Campbell did not go into hysterics. Instead, she warned her own class to keep quiet, and then reaching for the school gong she gave the signal for a fire drill.

Instantly, the 450 children dropped their slates and books, and formed into line in their classrooms. At another signal they marched out of the burning building and onto the lawn.

There they realized that the fire signal had been given for a sure enough fire, and when their excitement died down they were allowed to seek spots in the neighborhood where they could view the spectacle of the burning roof.

The janitor and a number of the oldest boys of the school climbed to the roof and put the flames out with water and a fire extinguisher.

The building suffered only through the damage of the roof.

County Superintendent E. C. Merry was immediately notified of the fire, and when he learned of the heroism of Miss Campbell he personally congratulated her on behalf of himself and for the county board.

HE WAS SO SCARED HE SWALLOWED CHEW OF TOBACCO

When the police got after Till Parker, an aged negro, at the corner of Decatur street and North Boulevard last Saturday afternoon, Till was so scared that he swallowed his "chaw" of tobacco. That is what he told the recorder Monday afternoon when the case was tried.

Officers Whitley and Laseter arrested the old man when they saw him walking through a turbulent crowd with an open knife in his hand.

"I had jest cut me off er chaw ob terbacker," Till explained to the court.

"Now, I've got you," exclaimed one of the officers, "for you didn't have any tobacco in your mouth when we arrested you."

"Dat's so," further explained the old man, "fer I wus so skeered dat I swallowed hit."

"I'll let you go," the recorder told him, "for a swallow of tobacco is punishment enough."

HE FIRED THE SHOT THAT KILLED JOHNSTON

FELDER IS PUSHED TO SUCCEED HARRIS

Macon Man May Be Chosen Census Director as Wilson Has Named Harris for the Trade Commission.

Washington, February 22.—President Wilson today, five months after the enactment of the federal trade commission law, sent to the senate for confirmation the names of the five members to constitute that commission. Whether the nominations can be confirmed by March 4 was regarded as problematical among senators today in view of opposition by individual senators to some of the men nominated.

The three democrats named by the president are: Joseph E. Davies, Madison, Wis., named to serve seven years; Edward N. Hurley, Chicago, for six years, and William J. Harris, Cedartown, Ga., for five years. The other nominees are Will H. Parry, Seattle, Wash., a progressive republican, named for four years, and George Rublee, Cornish, N. H., registered as a progressive, for three years.

Opposition to some of the nominations is expected at the white house.

Senator Sherman, of Illinois, recently attacked Mr. Hurley as one of the men who lobbied in Washington while the tariff bill was pending, and some republican senators are said to be dissatisfied because no regular republicans were named.

Felder May Be Census Director.

Mr. Harris was not the first choice of the senators from Georgia, who indorsed former Attorney General Felder, of that state. Later, however, the Georgia congressional delegation indorsed Mr. Harris, and an effort is to be made to have Mr. Felder succeed Mr. Harris as director of the census.

At present there is no appropriation for the payment of the expenses of the commission, and the trade commission law provides that it shall be housed in the commerce department building, which is already overcrowded. An effort is to be made, however, to rectify these two mistakes in the law in the near future.

Consideration of the nominations will first be given by the senate committee on interstate commerce. Chairman Newlands said tonight he would call his committee tomorrow to consider the list. He thought the committee would be able to recommend confirmation of all the nominees within a few days.

Democratic and republican senators both declared tonight there would be no hasty consideration of qualifications of the men named, particularly in view of the great powers conferred through provisions of the new law and also the length of time which the president took before making up his mind as to the personnel of the committee. Progressive republican senators have informally discussed several of the appointees from time to time as their names have been unofficially mentioned. Democratic senators, among them members of the interstate commerce committee, already have given the matter much thought.

Purpose of Commission.

The broad purpose of the commission as provided in the act is to prevent persons, partnerships or corporations, except banks and common carriers, from using unfair methods of competition in commerce. Whenever the commission has reason to believe that any unfair method is being used it shall issue a complaint and give the

NO FREE PASSES FOR DETECTIVES

Decreasing Revenue Forces Street Car Company to Retrenchment, Says President Arkwright.

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, told the city's street railway committee Monday afternoon, in explanation of the street car company's refusal to issue free ride passes to city detectives, that decreasing revenue and a policy of retrenchment caused the directors to abolish the 900,000 free passes issued annually.

President Arkwright informed the committee that, despite the fact that the free list has been absolutely abolished, and despite the further fact that every employee of the company, from the president to the humblest office boy, must now pay a nickel or walk, the company loses about $50,000 a year by allowing policemen, firemen and other uniformed officers of the city to ride free.

Everybody Pays Way.

"Beginning January 1," said President Arkwright, "no passes of any kind have been issued.

"I happen to be president of the company, and I pay my way on the cars just like every other citizen of Atlanta does. All the directors of the company pay their fares. All the employees, save those in uniform, pay their way out of their own pockets. I don't see how we could be expected to treat the city's employees more favorably than we treat our own."

Councilman Jesse B. Lee, chairman of the committee on street and electric railways, called a special meeting of the committee Monday afternoon for the purpose of trying to induce the Georgia Railway and Power company to enter into some sort of agreement with the city through which the detectives who work in civilian attire might be permitted to ride free on the street cars.

President Arkwright was invited by the committee to explain the attitude of the company, and Chief Beavers, of the police, and Chief Lanford, of the detective departments, were also asked to appear before the committee to give any information that might solve the problem.

At the outset, President Arkwright made it plain that the company would not issue free passes to the detectives. He told the committee that the power company pays its taxes just like every citizen or corporation, and that it is entitled to the benefits of police and fire protection such as is guaranteed others. He informed the committee that in 1914 the company redemmed 900,000 free ride passes, and explained that the value of the passes was $45,000.

Cost Company $50,000.

In addition, the company allows uniformed employees of the city to ride on their badges without a pass. He estimated that the courtesy granted to the uniformed men cost the company $50,000 last year, and will cost about the same this year.

It was suggested that in view of the fact that the finance committee did not put any money in the January sheet to cover the traveling (via street car) expenses of the detective department, and in the face of the stringent condition of the city treasury, that the power company enter into a contract with the city to transport the detectives on some basis to be figured on at a future date.

The committee did not take action on the suggestion, but it was agreed that the finance committee be called to take up the matter of furnishing the detectives with transportation, and that the committee recommend that $2,000 be provided for that purpose. It was estimated by both Chiefs Beavers and Lanford that the amount will suffice for the year.

Councilman Lee offered a further suggestion along the lines that the $2,000 appropriated by the city be used for purchasing two automobiles for the detective department, but the suggestion will be offered to the finance committee to be accepted or rejected as the committee wills.

Why Passes Were Abolished.

Further explaining why the trolley company abolished free passes and why it would not revive the practice, President Arkwright said:

"We faced a decreasing revenue, and we sought to cut down expenses. We tried to accomplish this in part by reducing the service we furnish, but the railroad commission refused to let us do that, and we were left with reduced revenue and the same expenses."

Mr. Arkwright said the issuance of free passes has been opposed for some time by several of the officers and directors of the company.

"We've got nothing to sell but rides," said he. "They are our sole stock of goods in the street car business."

Chief Beavers declared that he was not in favor of asking the trolley company for free passes. He said:

"We don't believe the police department or other officer of the city should be under obligations to the trolley company."

Recently, the franchise committee of council asked the trolley company to issue free ride passes to the inspectors and meter-readers of the water department, but President Arkwright turned down the request, which was made on the company just about the time the company was seeking a franchise to operate the Edgewood cars through a loop running around the southeast corner of Pryor and Edgewood avenue into Pryor street at the intersection of the Kimball House.

WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY OBSERVED AT CAPITAL

Washington, February 22.—George Washington's birth anniversary was celebrated today in every department of the capital.

President Wilson attended exercises under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sons of the Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution, and while he was an interested listener for two hours he did not make an address. Senator Townsend was the principal speaker there.

Washington's farewell address was read in the senate by Senator Root and in the house by Representative Garrett. All the executive departments were closed.

Submarine War Inaugurated by the Kaiser to Influence Policies of the Allies in Regard to Contraband.

ANTI-GERMAN FEELING INTENSE IN HOLLAND

And Also in the Scandinavian Countries — Neutrals Aroused Over Menace to Shipping by German Submarines—Allies to Retaliate.

London, February 22.—The wasp of modern warfare, the submarine, daily becomes a factor of more and more importance in the great war of Europe with respect to its influence on the policies of the nations engaged in connection with the contraband question so vital to neutral states.

Almost coincident with unofficial reports that Austria will follow the example of her ally by making war on merchant ships in the Adriatic, came the announcement by Premier Asquith in the house of commons that Great Britain's retaliatory plan, though still tentative, was much broader in scope than previously had been suggested; in that it was a matter for the consideration of all the allies, and that a joint note concerning it might be expected from the allies.

The statement was likewise made in the house of commons that the British government might deem it necessary to alter its decision whereby cotton has not been classed as contraband.

The day passed without news of any additional merchant ship having fallen a victim to a German submarine, but three small British craft are missing.

Amsterdam reports that two German submarines are overdue at Cuxhaven.

North Sea Traffic Disorganized.

Traffic in the North sea remains disorganized and Dutch and Scandinavian sailors are reluctant to go to sea owing to the menace of submarines and mines. Reports from Copenhagen that traffic between Sweden and England has been discontinued temporarily are not officially confirmed.

The Scandinavian neutrals are showing much alarm. A great sensation was caused in those countries by torpedoing of the Norwegian steamship Bolridge off Folkestone last week.

Representatives of the Scandinavian governments are holding another conference today, the outcome of which is awaited with much interest by neutral shippers. The question of a naval convoy, it is understood, is being seriously considered at the conference, but the guarded comments of the newspapers show it is clearly recognized such a step might eventually bring the Scandinavian countries into the war.

The question of the right of the crews of five Danish ships to refuse to sail for English ports now is before a court which is considering their excuse that Germany is not likely to respect a neutral flag.

FEELING IN HOLLAND DESCRIBED AS TENSE.

The Hague, Netherlands, February 23.—(Via London, 12:53 a. m.)—A tense undercurrent of feeling is running through all classes in Holland. This is attributed to public concern over Germany's action in not replying to the Dutch protest concerning the North sea war zone and nervousness as to what might result from the German blockade and submarine activity, which might produce an untoward incident at any moment.

Although vessels belonging to other neutral states have suffered, Dutch ships, up to the present, have escaped damage, but seamen are demanding increased wages. Some men have left their ships, especially those bound for England. Numbers of passengers for the Dutch East Indies have decided to pass through Germany to Genoa, to take ship there.

Even Dutch fishing boats, by governmental order, are to be painted in the national colors, while their crews have been advised to carry with them evidences of their nationality.

The continued movements of troops toward the various frontier points and the constant work of military engineers on inundation works have increased the uneasiness of the people.

The newspapers generaly refrain from commenting on the situation.

COTTON MAY BE PUT ON CONTRABAND LIST.

London, February 22.—The British government may reconsider its ruling permiting entrance of cotton into Germany. Harold J. Tennant, undersecretary for war, stated in the house of commons today that when the decision was reached not to make cotton contraband the government believed the requirements of Germany were already satisfied, but, he said, "this attitude must be revised from time to time."

ALLIES PLANNING RETALIATORY ACTION.

London, February 22.—The allies have not yet decided on the precise method of retaliation to be pursued against Germany's new naval policy, but a speedy agreement is expected. Premier Asquith, speaking in the house of commons today, said:

"The allied governments are considering what action it would be proper to take in the way of reprisals against the German policy of attacking and

Paris, February 22.—A Havas dispatch from Calais says a German dirigible dropped bombs near Fontinettes today, damaging the St. Omer, Hazebrouck and Dunkirk railroad line. Train service over the line was re-established immediately.

Two incendiary bombs damaged several dwellings in the village.

Fontinettes is about a mile south of St. Omer which is twenty miles southeast of Calais.

Petrograd, February 22.—Capture of heights southeast of Dukla and northwest of Senetchouw after a desperate struggle is described in an official communication on the progress of operations issued here last night. The statement follows:

LOSS OF EVELYN WILL BE PROBED

Inquiry Ordered Into Destruction of American Ship in German Waters—Claim for Damages Is Certain.

Washington, February 22.—President Wilson conferred with Secretary Bryan tonight concerning the destruction of the American steamer Evelyn off the German coast, but in the absence of definite information as to what caused the wreck no course of action beyond diplomatic inquiries was decided on.

Having learned unofficially that a part of the Evelyn's crew headed for the coast of Holland, Secretary Bryan cabled to American Minister Van Dyke, at The Hague, asking that every care be extended to the crew and an investigation of the occurrence be made through all available agencies.

Earlier in the day Secretary Daniels instructed Naval Attache Gherardi, of the American embassy at Berlin, to investigate the disaster.

Suit for Damages Certain.

It was conceded in official quarters that if the nationality of the mine were not determined, and if no proof were obtained to show whether official notifications to neutral vessels concerning the courses they should steer were being followed by the Evelyn, there would be virtually no ground for diplomatic protest. A civil suit, however, is certain. Some officials thought that a claim for damages might be laid against both Germany and Great Britain if mines were sown far beyond belligerent zones of operation without giving due notice to neutral craft.

Officials were somewhat anxious over the fate of that portion of the Evelyn's crew supposed to have rowed for the coast of Holland.

American Consul Fee, at Bremen, reported last night that "the crew was saved," and made no mention of any missing men. Officials learned today through press reports that the mate and sailors who originally were thought to have been landed in Holland had not been reported through any of the coast guard stations or the Dutch admiralty.

Although there has been no protest by the United States concerning the laying of mines, and none is believed likely, it was considered possible in many quarters that the United States might attempt to learn more definitely from the belligerents precautions they have taken to safeguard neutral commerce in mine zones.

Difficult to Get Information.

It was said at the navy department that from present indications it will be difficult for the naval officer to secure exact information of what actually destroyed the Evelyn. Unless Captain Smith or some of the members of the crew of the steamship actually saw the conning tower or periscope of a submarine, officials say it would not be possible to deny that the Evelyn was sunk by a mine.

As the Evelyn lies at the bottom of the North sea examination of her hull would be difficult. It was pointed out, however, that German officials disclose to the American naval officer in confidence the map of their mine fields in the vicinity where the Evelyn was sunk.

Chairman Stone, of the senate foreign relations committee, said he foresaw no international complications over the incident.

"An American vessel," said the senator, "ventured into an area known to be mined and unfortunately struck one. So far it is not known what nation laid the mine. It is probable that a national claim for damages might be made when all the facts are established, but I cannot see how serious complications could result."

New Route Is Suggested.

Senator Hoke Smith thought the destruction of the Evelyn would result in no complications, but would force adoption of a new route for cotton shipments to Europe. He declared that a route through the Mediterranean and Adriatic seas to Trieste should be substituted for the northern course.

The Evelyn is the first ship insured with the United States bureau of war risk insurance to be lost since the bureau began operations several months ago. Insurance has been written on ships and cargoes amounting to more than $55,000,000.

The bureau was closed today and no word had been received as to when a claim from the owners may be expected. There is little doubt that legal proof of the destruction of the ship and cargo will result in prompt payment of the insurance. The bureau has earned in premiums more than $600,000, so it is able to stand its first loss without resort to the appropriation made by congress.

Senator Simmons, one of the framers of the bill which created the war risk bureau, said at the white house today he assumed an effort would be made first to establish responsibility for the sinking of the Evelyn, and that if the nationality of the mine could be discovered the government war risk bureau would make efforts to collect damages.

PART OF THE CREW REPORTED MISSING.

The Hague, February 22.—(Via London.)—Inquiries of the coast guard stations in north Holland have brought the reply that nothing has been seen or heard of that part of the crew of the American steamer Evelyn who were reported to have proceeded for Holland after the steamer was blown up. A very dense fog prevailed throughout yesterday and today along the coast.

The Dutch marine department also is without information concerning the missing men of the Evelyn's crew.

LOSS OF SHIP DUE TO WAR RISK.

New York, February 22.—William L. Harriss, of the firm which owned the steamship Evelyn, said the firm would make no protest to the state department, as he considered the loss of the ship due to a war risk which she had taken.

Mr. Harriss said all of his company's ships were under orders not to go through the English channel. The firm at present has the four-masted bark Pass of Balhama and two steamships, the Vincent and the Brynhilda, bound eastward from New York, all loaded with cotton. The Vincent left January 25, with 5,500 bales; the Brynhilda February 18, with 5,000 bales, and the bark left January 30, with 5,000 bales. The Leelanaw, another of the company's vessels, will take on 5,700 bales here during the next few days and leave for Bremen.

GERMANS BLAME BRITISH FOR LOSS OF EVELYN.

Berlin, February 22.—(By Wireless to Sayville, L. I.)—According to advices received here Captain Smith, of the American steamer Evelyn, has informed the German authorities that his ship came to grief through the advice of a British naval boarding officer, who instructed him to follow the course on which he struck the mines instead of the northerly course as laid down in the German instructions.

The disaster occurred at 4 o'clock Friday morning and the Evelyn sank seven hours later.

Captain Smith, a Dutch pilot and 13 men, drifted in a rowboat until Saturday afternoon, when they were rescued by a German patrol boat. A Spanish stoker in the rowboat died meanwhile from exposure. The other men are all recovering. They are now at the Sailors' Home in Bremerhaven.

The mate and the remainder of the Evelyn's crew are understood to have landed in Holland.

ARMY CORPS LOST, RUSSIANS ADMIT

Czar's General Staff Issues Statement on the Retreat From East Prussia—Berlin Claims 100,000 Russians Captured.

Petrograd, February 22.—Explanation of the Russian retirement from East Prussia is contained in a communication given out last night by the general staff. Successes of the German coup is attributed largely to the lack of strategic railways which prevented the Russians from concentrating "with necessary rapidity on our East Prussian front forces indispensable to ward off the drive of the enemy."

The general staff asserts that the massing of German troops in East Prussia was revealed to the Russians on February 4, but that the magnitude of the concentration did not become known until several days later. Because of these conditions, it is stated, withdrawal of the Tenth Russian army from East Prussia towards the frontier was decided upon. This was followed later by a further retirement towards the Niemen and the Bobr rivers.

The Russian Statement.

The communication follows:

"The Germans, after a series of exceptionally obstinate and tenacious attacks which cost them innumerable victims, became persuaded of the impossibility of dislodging us from the left bank of the Vistula and proceeded at the end of January to put a new plan into operation.

"Having finished the formation in the interior of their country of several new corps and deciding to continue the transportation of troops from their west front in order to make a supreme effort against us, profiting by their network of railroads, the Germans were enabled to launch an overwhelming force against our Tenth army, which occupied strongly organized positions along the Angeraph river and the Mazurian lakes.

"To assure the success of this coup the Germans transported also part of their contingents from the fronts on the Rawka, the Bzura and the right bank of the Vistula. This gathering of Germans in East Prussia was revealed to us on February 4, but the magnitude of the concentration was not determined until several days later.

"Not being able, through lack of railroad facilities, to concentrate on our East Prussian front with the necessary rapidity forces indispensable to ward off this drive of the enemy, our chiefs decided to withdraw the above mentioned army from East Prussia towards the frontier and further retirement towards the Niemen and the Bobr has followed.

Right Wing Roughly Handled.

"The right wing of the Tenth army, pressed by great numbers of the enemy and threatened with being surrounded on the right flank, was compelled to make a very swift turning movement in the direction of Kovno.

"This maneuver exposed the flank of the corps following, which found itself in an extremely dangerous position. Only broken and disorganized portions escaped.

"Other corps of the Tenth army, fighting continuously and stubbornly, slowly retreated in the direction marked out by their commanders. On taking up these positions the Russian troops bravely repulsed the attacking enemy, inflicting upon him severe losses and overcoming incredible difficulties caused by the deep snow which covered all the roads.

"Retreating step by step, one corps, forming the left wing of the Tenth army, held the enemy for nine days on lines which ordinarily are traversed in four days.

"On February 19 these corps fell back through Augustowo, retired from the battle at Sphoc and assumed the fortified positions indicated for them.

"At present actions on the German front continue before Ossowetz, on the roads from Lomza to Edvabno and north of Kadizidly, on the road between Plotzk and Plonsk. In some places the fighting is very stubborn.

"On the right of the Vistula, on the roads from Plotsk, Austrian detachments have been relieved by German troops."

RUSSIANS CAPTURED BY THOUSANDS.

Berlin, February 20.—In an official statement issued today, German army headquarters claim that the captures of Russians in the battle of the Mazurian lakes district of East Prussia have been increased to seven generals and more than 100,000 men. The pieces of cannon taken numbered 150.

The statement says:

"In the eastern theater: The pursuit after the winter battle in the Mazurian district has come to an end. During the clearing up of operations to the northwest of Grodno and in the battles reported during the last few days in the Bobr and Navew district, one commanding general and four other generals and approximately 40,000 men have been taken prisoners up to the present. Seventy-five cannon and some machine guns, the actual number of which has not yet been ascertained, and much other war material has been captured.

"The total booty taken in the winter battle in the Mazurian district as a result of these additions has been increased to date to seven generals, more than 100,000 men, upwards of 150 cannon and quantities of other material of all descriptions, the amount of which cannot yet be approximately estimated.

"Cannon of a heavy caliber and ammunition frequently are buried by the enemy or sunk in the lakes near Loetzen and in the Widimer sea. Eight cannon of heavy caliber were dug up or pulled out of the water yesterday.

"The Tenth Russian army, under General Baron Sievers, is considered as having been destroyed.

"New battles appear to be developing at Grodno and to the north of Seichawolas. It is reported that the battles to the northwest of Ossowetz and Lomza, as well as those at Prasnysz, are taking their regular course.

"There is no news from Poland to the south of the Vistula river."

GERMAN BLOW HAS FALLEN SHORT.

London, February 22.—The crushing blow which Germany hopes to deliver against the Russians from East Prussia has fallen short, telegraphs The Daily Mail's Petrograd correspondent.

"The Russians have extricated their main body from the German pincers," says the dispatch, "and the Germans, instead of attacking, are being attacked. Russian reinforcements are arriving constantly in large numbers.

"A fierce attack from the direction of Lomza compelled the Germans to bring troops from the north and abandon for the moment their advance toward the River Niemen, where only their cavalry is operating in small bodies. The German movement toward the fortress of Novo Georgiewsk continues, but less energetically. All along the line, in fact, there is noticeable a slackening of effort."

NO CATASTROPHE, SAYS PETROGRAD.

Petrograd, February 22.—(Via London.)—Commenting on the general staff's communication, The Bourse Gazette says:

"Military authorities believe the loss of an army corps should not be considered a catastrophe. This corps, with its flank exposed, had to take on itself all the blows of an overwhelming enemy. On account of the extreme rapidity of the enemy's advance, it was unable to affect a counter maneuver.

"With the regular formation of the front destroyed, the conflicts took on the character of separate blows."

German occupation of the Russian positions in northern Poland is not considered by military authorities here as of strategical importance.

"Grand Duke Nicholas lifts the curtain frankly and truthfully, as he has done on previous occasions when success has not been won," says The Rech. "The enemy's forces were so great that the tenth army could not withstand them."

destroying British allied and neutral merchant vessels, without warning and without an attempt being made to save the lives of civilians and innocent crews.

"Pending a decision, which I hope will very soon be announced, I cannot make a statement regarding the nature or scope of the measures to be taken."

As to the form in which the decisions will be published, the premier said:

"There certainly will be a note from Great Britain and I hope there will be a joint one."

TWO SUBMARINES ARE LONG OVERDUE.

London, February 22.—A dispatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegram company says reports from the German frontier state that much uneasiness exists in the German fortified seaport Cuxhaven concerning two large submarines which have not returned to their base. The undersea boats are said to be two days overdue, and it is feared they have been destroyed.

PASSENGER LINER ATTACKED IN CHANNEL.

Plymouth, England, February 22.—(Via London.)—The Western Daily Mercury says that when the Australian mail boat Maloja, with 400 passengers, was entering the English channel Saturday afternoon she was ordered to stop by an unknown armored merchantman. The mail boat ignored the order and made for Plymouth, says the paper, whereupon the merchantman fired five shells at her, all of which fell short. The Maloja reached Plymouth safely.

NORWAY FREIGHTER LOST IN NORTH SEA.

London, February 22.—The Norwegian freight steamer Cuba, from London to Rotterdam, was sunk in a collision today in the North Sea. So far as it known no lives were lost.

NORWAY TO PROBE SINKING OF BARK.

London, February 23.—(3:20 a. m.)—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says the Norwegian government has instructed the Norwegian minister at Buenos Aires to forward details of the sinking of thebark Cemantha.

Recently the German steamship Holger arrived at Buenos Aires with passengers and crews taken from several steamships and sailing vessels sunk by the German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm. One of the ships mentioned was the Sumatra, of which the marine registers have no record and it is presumed the vessel was the Semantha.

POPE SOUNDS KAISER IN REGARD TO PEACE

Rome, February 22.—The Giornale D'Italia today says Pope Benedict is reported to have sent to Emperor William recently a communication asking on what conditions Germany would consider peace proposals.

Reports to the secretary of state of the vatican, says The Giornale D'Italia, show that Germany, although maintaining an excellent military position, feels seriously the consequences of the war, and has modified materially her views on peace. The paper adds:

"The pontiff considers such a condition of affairs lends itself favorably to diplomatic steps. He is reported again to have interpellated Emperor William to know on what conditions Germany would be disposed to negotiate peace, observing that in any case the military honor of Germany is safe."

GERMAN AEROPLANE ATTACKED BY SWISS

Berne, February 22.—(Via Paris.)—Swiss soldiers opened fire yesterday on an aeroplane, said to have been German, which flew over Bonfal. The machine was struck by nine bullets and the pilot was forced to descend at Ferrette after hovering over the position at Rechesy.

STOCK OF ANILINE DYES VERY LOW IN ENGLAND

London, February 22.—In discussing the efforts the government has been making to obtain supplies of aniline dyes in place of those formerly procured from Germany, President Runciman, of the board of trade, said in the house of commons today that the stock of dyes in England had run so low that a large group of industries dependent upon them would be interfered with seriously unless emergency measures were adopted. He stated the government had made arrangements for forwarding supplies of raw materials to certain Swiss manufacturers, who were to return finished dyes for them.

LONDON IS PREPARING TO FIGHT AIRSHIPS

London, February 9.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The north wing of Buckingham palace is now being covered with a wire netting about 20 feet above the roof. This is the wing containing the living apartments of the royal family. Additional anti-aircraft guns have been stationed in the neighborhood of the palace, one having been set up in the center of Green Park during the past week. If a Zeppelin should be seen hovering over the palace there are at least a half dozen guns which would open fire upon it.

Almost every day additional preparations are being made to fight airships over London. While many of the art treasures in the museums have been removed to places of greater safety there have been vigorous complaints in some papers that any of the most valuable pictures, sculptures or objects of art should still remain exposed to the possibility of aerial attack on the galleries.

Stop the murders in Mexico —Col. Roosevelt

In Mexico men like you, Americans, brothers to you by the same blood, have been murdered. American women like your wife and sisters have been outraged. American homes like your home hallowed with the same dear associations, have been pillaged and burned. Read Colonel Roosevelt's indictment of a government that has done nothing. Learn the menace that present-day Mexico is to our peace with the world. Already Spain, her minister ousted from Mexico, has petitioned the Powers to step in and settle the anarchy across our own borderline.

And with Japan—is it to be everlasting trouble, endangering peace, or is there a possible solution of the vital issues between us? In a courageous article Colonel Roosevelt answers the Japanese problem as he sees it.

Today Europe is hip-deep in war. The world bristles with guns. It is a time for intelligent listening and clear thinking. The two biggest questions before you today are discussed by a man whose Americanism no man ever questioned.

You will find this compelling contribution by Colonel Roosevelt in the March Metropolitan.

And in the same remarkable and timely magazine you will read "Twilight Sleep in America," by the pioneers of the movement in this country, Mary Boyd and Marguerite Tracy. John Reed's vivid picture of "German France." Four short stories, any one of them big enough to be the headline feature for the average magazine, by Richard Harding Davis, Rupert Hughes, Booth Tarkington and Fannie Hurst. FARM JOBS GO BEGGING IN VICINITY OF CHICAGO

Chicago, February 22.—Farm jobs near Chicago are going begging, according to Mrs. Lepnora Z. Meder, superintendent of public welfare.

"Farmers are offering transportation and good wages, and in some cases board and washing," said Mrs. Meder. "But the men refuse to go to the farms. Last week an average of 600 men a day visited this office and demanded work of any kind."

DEFEND BROTHER OF A. D. OLIVER

Impossible for Frank to Have Been Guilty of Offenses Credited to Charles, Declares Edward Blazer.

That A. D. Oliver, the slain financier of Climax and Leesburg, Ga., duped prison officials of Mississippi when he secured his liberty on the plea his twin brother was responsible for the crime of which he was accused, is indicated by information received by The Constitution Monday from correspondents in Ohio.

Developments in this strange case tend to show that Oliver was in reality Charles Blazer, and that he had one brother, Erk, now living in Greenfield, Ohio; a twin brother, Frank, now living in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and another brother, Edward, also of Yellow Springs.

People in a position to know, however, declare that Frank lived in Yellow Springs for over six years, and that before that time his residence was in Kentucky, and that it was impossible for him to have been mixed up in the operations of Oliver, or Blazer.

The Mississippi episode in the life of the slain financier came after his trial in Georgia on the charge of bigamy. It was claimed by authorities that he was an escaped convict from that state, the governor granted requisition papers, and he was taken to Mississippi to serve his term. There he managed to persuade authorities that a twin brother who had been going under the name of Harding, was responsible for the crime of which he was accused. After he was freed he returned to south Georgia.

Story From Cleveland.

The story from Cleveland is as follows:

"Cleveland, Ohio, February 22.—(Special.)—That Charles Blazer, alias A. D. Oliver, who was slain in Georgia, has a twin brother who is now living in Yellow Springs, Ohio, but that it would have been impossible for him to have been mixed up in any deal with Charles, was declared tonight by Edward Blazer, a brother of the slain banker, who also lives in Yellow SEprings.

"The slain man's son, Roy K. Blazer, who has been living in Estherville, Iowa, is now on his way to Yellow Springs, and will arrive there tomorrow. 'Charles and Frank, who live here in the village, were twins,' said Edward Blazer over the long distance phone tonight.

"'He has lived here in Yellow Springs for the last six years, and previous to that time made his home in Kentucky. He has not seen Charles nor heard from him for several years. In fact, none of the family has known anything about Charles for nearly ten years. He left home many years ago and never returned.

"'None of us ever heard of Charles escaping a sentence on the plea that Frank was the guilty one. We have known absolutely nothing of our brother Charles' doings for the last ten years.'

"Blazer said that he does not know what steps Roy will take in regard to the estate left by his father. Whether or not the son had been in communication with his father in recent years, Blazer does not know.

"'All I know is that I got a message from Roy stating he would come here, and I expect him tomorrow,' said Blazer."

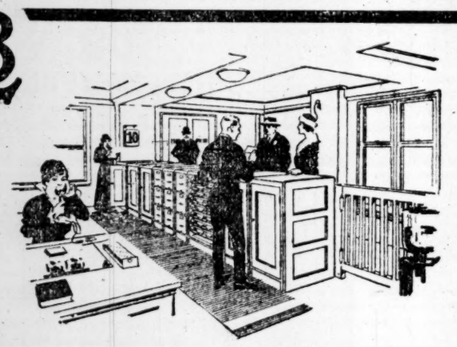

OLIVER'S PHOTOGRAPH REQUESTED BY BANK.

Leesburg, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Police Officer J. A. Forrester received today a letter from the Columbia County National bank, Benton, Pa., asking for a photo of Oliver, signed, "R. J. McHenry." This is the signature, apparently, as the one found on the check in Oliver's possession for $350,000, signed "R. J. McHenry, cashier." The check is dated in May, 1914.

It is rumored Pinkerton detectives are working on the Oliver murder case. Both sides are making big preparations for trial Wednesday morning.

An outside judge is expected to preside at the commitment hearing on Wednesday, probably Judge Greer, of Macon county.

Need more floor space? Add L. B. equipment

You've been in offices that seemed overcrowded. Desks, everything, chockablock—hardly room to turn around.

Visitors think a business man of that kind can't afford extra floor space—and floor space does cost money. Or, that he doesn't know the value of a well ordered office.

In either case, L. B. counter-hight files would solve the problem—by providing a means of utilizing floor space to greatest advantage.

L. B. counter-hight units give you a broad counter top, with abundant filing and storage space below. This means more floor space.

Combinations of units depend upon your requirements—whether your office is large or small. Why not find out more about them?

MILLIONS URGED TO DEFEND NATION

Senate Discusses Army and Navy Bill, and House Debates Fortifications—Senate Passes Pension Bill.

Washington, February 22.—Appropriations for national defense occupied the attention of both houses of congress today in the general rush to clear up the supply bills before adjournment, if possible. The senate discussed until late tonight the army appropriation bill carrying approximately $103,000,000, while the house continued on the fortifications bill.

While progress was being made on both these measures, the senate committee practically completed consideration of the naval appropriations measure, and the senate paused for four minutes to pass, without debate, the pension bill carrying $164,000,000. In the passage of this bill the senate appropriated at the rate of $41,000,000 a minute.

Increases for Submarines.

Increases for submarines and aviation over provisions of the house bill were recommended by the senate committee on naval affairs in a bill which will total approximately $150,000,000. The committee urges $1,000,000 for aviation instead of $300,000, as authorized in the house bill. The senate committee also provides for the construction of six seagoing submarines instead of one, and sixteen instead of eleven of the smaller type submarines, the former to cost not more than $1,400,000 each, and the latter not to exceed $550,000 each. Senator Smoot proposed an amendment for the authorization of fifty sea-going and twenty-five of the smaller coast defense submarines. Another proposal by the senate committee is an amendment to the section abolishing the naval plucking board, which would require all naval officers to spend at least half their service at sea.

Notwithstanding, the progress being made on appropriations in the senate, there were indications today that not all the bills could be passed, whether the ship-purchase will is reported back from the conference committee or not. Several democratic senators said they feared it might be necessary to adopt some emergency resloutions in the closing hours of the session. So far as the shipping bill is concerned, nothing has yet been done by the conferees, and republican leaders propose to have some appropriation measures still before the senate next Saturday when the conference committee is to report. The committee may report a disagreement at that time.

Considerable discussion prefaced consideration of the army bill, necessitating a night session. In urging prompt action, Senator Chamberlain explained the absence of provisions for reorganization of the army with the statement that the shortness of the session would not permit proper consideration. He predicted that the reorganization and reserve army bills pending would be pushed at the next session of congress.

Rap at the Jingoes.

Many speeches were made in the house during the fortifications bill debate. Representative Fordney, of Michigan, republican, predicted that with the treasury revenues falling off next year the administration would have to enact a so-called war tax revenue measure, instead of bonds, as in 1895, increase import duties, or materially reduce government expenditures.

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, republican, congratulated the house on not being stampeded into extravagant defense appropriations by the European war. He regretted that some people indulged in what he considered "treasonable baiting of foreign peoples by continually proclaiming the probability or certainty of an armed struggle, near or remote, with Japan." He said this country has, and will continue to have, questions with the government and people of Japan as with other countries, but that no questions are likely to arise that cannot be settled peacefully by exercise of patience and good judgment.

"We have no plans or ambitions for the future, and so far as we know, Japan has none," he said, "which will afford any reason or excuse for a clash of interests that cannot be readily adjusted through diplomatic channels."

More Money for Navy.

At the night session the senate naval committee submitted its report on the appropriation bill carrying a total of $152,961,981.88, an increase over the house bill of $8,313,080. Provision also is made for the re-appropriation of $400,000 for marine barracks at Norfolk and Mare Island.

The naval building program of the senate bill would provide for five seagoing submarines, sixteen smaller submarines, six or more destroyers, one oil fuel ship, one gupboat, one hospital ship at $500,000, and two first-class battleships.

Among the increases recommended are $500,000 for a projectile plant; $120,000 for naval reserves; $400,000 for a high power radio station and $1,000,000 to be applied on construction of an armor plate factory if the secretary of the navy cannot purchase armor in the market at a reasonable price.

Debate on the army bill was resumed after the naval bill was reported and items were passed over quickly with little debate. When the senate recessed the only section remaining for consideration was that providing for the establishment of a system of scientific management in government navy yards and shops.

The Indian appropriation bill was reported by the senate committee tonight carrying $11,255,865, an increase of $3,535,741 over the house bill.

INDIANS STILL DEFY UNITED STATES POSSE

Bluff, Utah, February 22.—(Via Cortez, Colo.)—Five members of the original posse of twenty-six, led by United States Marshal Aquila Nebeker, in battle here with Piute Indians, became detached from the posse and are isolated in the rim rocks 2 miles from Bluff. The Indians have taken refuge in Cottonwood gulch.

This information was brought here late today by Thomas M. Burke, a member of the posse. The five men—Murray Williams, Frank Wheatland, Roy Moore, Dick Lewis and Roscoe Houston—are well supplied with ammunition, but have been without food or water since the battle opened Sunday.

An effort to relieve the men is expected to be made upon the arrival tomorrow of reinforcements.

Indian Agent Kurch, of the Shiprock, N. M., agency, reported today that twenty-five Navajo police are en route to Bluff on horseback. A snowstorm has been raging for hours.

DEAN ATKINSON SPEAKS ON GEORGE WASHINGTON

Dean J. R. Atkinson will speak Tuesday at the noonday Lenten service in the Emery-Steiner building, on the striking subject, "A Lesson for Lawyers—a New Degree—LL. D." He promises some pointed facts for great interest. Dean Atkinson spoke Monday before a large audience. His subject was "One." After taking for his text, "Let no man deceive you," I. John, 3:7, he dwelt upon the quality of being righteous. He ascribed the world-wide historical importance of George Washington to this characteristic. Although Washington was by no means a perfect man, the idea of doing the right thing was constantly uppermost in his mind.

YIELDS $4,000 JOB TO WIN MISS JAMES; GETS BETTER PLACE

Chicago, February 22.—Professor George Enfield Frazer, who resigned his $4,000 position as controller of the University of Illinois to gain Miss Helen James, daughter of Edmund J. James, president of the university, as his bride, has found a better job. He is to undertake research work for a large commercial house here, it was announced today, and his salary, it was said, will be considerably more than he earned in the university.

Professor Frazer resigned in response to President James' often expressed opinions on nepotism. "No man is a fair judge of the value of his relatives," he said, but added there could be no relative on the faculty of which he was president.

Neglected Kidney Trouble --Serious Sickness

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder, and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time, and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half, and feel very grateful to Swamp-Root

Yours very truly,

TAFT SEES MENACE TO UNITED STATES

Ex-President Says Country's Neutral Rights Are at Stake — Defends Wilson's Course and Raps Hyphenated Critics.

Morristown, N. J., February 22.—The United States is threatened with a serious invasion of its rights as a neutral by the warring nations of Europe, and in preserving its commerce with those nations is face to face with a crisis, in the opinion of former President William H. Taft. In the solution of that crisis, should it arise, no jingo spirit must be allowed to prevail, Mr. Taft advised; neither pride nor monetary passion should influence judgment.

"And when the president shall act," Mr. Taft declared, "we must stand by him to the end. In this determination we may be sure that all will join, no matter what their previous views, no matter what their European origin. All will forget their differences in self-sacrificing loyalty to our common flag and our common country."

American Interest in War.

Mr. Taft's reference to the situation confronting the United States was made at the conclusion of an address today before the Washington Association of New Jersey.

Quoting a reservation in the treaty of Algeciras, proclaimed in 1907, and entered into by the United States and eleven European nations, including most of those now at war, Mr. Taft said:

"Our interest in the present war, under the conditions that exist, should be limited as set forth in this reservation, to-wit:

"'To preserving and increasing the commerce of the United States with the belligerents; to the protection as to life, liberty and prosperity of our citizens residing or traveling in their countries, and to the aiding by our friendly officers and efforts in bringing our countries to peace.'

"Our efforts for peace," he continued, "have been made as complete as possible, for the president has already tendered his good offices by way of mediation between the powers, and they have not been accepted.

"In preserving the commerce of these United States with the belligerents, however, we are face to face with a crisis. We are threatened with a serious invasion of our rights as a neutral in trading with the belligerent countries. What certainly is an innovation upon previous rules in respect to neutral commerce and contraband of war has been initiated by the belligerents of both sides.

Mines and Submarines.

"The planting of mines in the open sea and the use of submarines to send neutral vessels to the bottom without inquiry as to their neutrality when found in a so-called war zone of the open sea, are all of them a variation from the rules of international law governing the action of belligerents toward neutral trade.

"When their violation results in the destruction of the lives of American citizens, or of American property, a grave issue will arise as to what the duty of this government is. The responsibility of the president and congress in meeting the critical issue thus presented in maintaining our national rights and our national honor on the one hand, with due regard to the awful consequences to our 90,000,000 of people of engaging in this horrible world war, on the other, will be very great. It involves on their part a judgment so momentous in its consequences that we should earnestly pray that the necessity for it may be averted.

"If, however, the occasion arises, we can be confident that those in authority will be actuated by the highest patriotic motives and by the deepest concern for the national welfare. We must not allow our pride or monentary passion to influence our judgment. We must exercise the deliberation that the fateful consequences in the loss of our best blood and enormous waste of treasure would necessarily impose upon us. We must allow no jingo spirit to prevail. We must abide the judgment of those in whom we have entrusted the authority, and when the president shall act, we must stand by him to the end.

Washington and Neutrality.

"This 183d anniversary of Washington's birthday, in view of the present critical condition in our international relations, should bring to our minds the third great achievement of his presidential terms, the maintenance of a policy of neutrality through a general European war. He insisted upon it as necessary before he became president; he maintained it throughout his official life as president against mighty odds and under conditions that tried his soul, and in his farewell address he restated and reinforced it as a legacy to the American people.

"On the 2d of April, 1793, he issued a proclamation of neutrality. It must be realized, too, that this proclamation of neutrality was very difficult to reconcile with the engagements of the United States in the treaty of France, made during the revolutionary war, and it was possible only to escape them on the plea that they were not binding on the United States in the case of an offensive war such as France was waging against England. Finally, after his course of neutrality had been vindicated, and he came to lay his office down, he appealed to the American people not to depart from it. He said:

"'The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible. So far as we have already formed engagements, let them be fulfilled with perfect good faith. Here let us stop.

"'Europe has a set of primary interests, which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves, by artificial ties, in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisons of her friendships or enmities.

Against Entanglements.

"'Our detached and distant situation invites and enables us to pursue a different course.

"'Why forego the advantages of so peculiar a situation? Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor or caprice?'

"It seems to me that this is a good text from which to preach a sermon and draw a lesson on this Washington's birthday. Most of the great powers of Europe are again at war. We have among our citizens those who look back to a country of one or the other of the belligerents which was their native land. The natural result has followed that the bitterness of the contest is reflected in the conflicting sympathies of our people. The newspapers of no other country have been as full of details of the war and of the circumstances leading to it as our own press. This has stimulated public interest and created partisans who attack President Wilson because he has been faithfully following the example set and the admonitions given by our first president.

"No better evidence of this could be had than that, from time to time, first one side and then the other criticises the administration for its partiality, its lame acquiescence or its unfair protests. So extreme have some of these partisans become that they propose to organize a political party and take political action to be based on issues arising out of the present war.

No European Issues in America.

"I am far from saying that an unwise or an unpatriotic course in our foreign relations may not justify criticism of any administration, and may not require its condemnation at the appropriate election, but in such a case the reasons must be found in injury to the interests of the United States and not in the merits of the issues being fought out by European nations in an European arena.

"I was asked in Canada whether the war would affect our politics so as to divide parties on European lines. I answered unhesitatingly in the negative. I said that to inject European issues into American politics had uniformly meant the defeat of those who attempted it.

"Legislation is pressed to forbid the sale of arms and ammunition by our merchants in trade to belligerents. My chief objection to giving up the lawful and usual course of a neutral to sell arms and ammunition to belligerents is based on the highest national interest. We are a country which is never fully prepared for war. We must have the means of preparing as rapidly as possible after war is imminent and inevitable. We would be most foolish to adopt a policy of refusing to sell arms and ammunition to belligerent powers which if it was pursued against us when we were driven into war would leave us helpless.

"The general adoption of a course by neutrals not to sell arms to the belligerents in a war would greatly stimulate the tendency to increase armaments in time of peace to be ready for war."

Critics of Administration.

"Another criticism against the administration comes not only from those whose predilections are based on their European origin, but also from native Americans. They complain of the administration because it did not protest against every violation of international law. While the people of the United States might well maintain the wisdom and righteousness of such provisions, or deplore their violation, their government was not under any treaty obligation to take part in the controversy, to express an opinion, or to register a protest.

"We must realize that in a controversy like this, where the whole life blood of each contestant is being poured, protests like those proposed in respect of issues in which a neutral is not directly interested, may well seem to the highly sensitive peoples engaged a formal declaration of sympathy in the war with one side or the other.

"Therefore, while I sympathize with the Belgians in this war, whose country, without any fault of theirs, has been made its bloody center, I approve and commend to the full the attitude of President Wilson in declining to consider the evidence brought before him in respect to atrocities in Belgium, and to express an opinion on the issues presented. A similar decision with respect to the application of the German government to have him investigate the evidence of the use of dumdum bullets was equally sound. We are not sitting as judges of issues between countries in Europe in this great war."

Blood Will Tell

Paris, Feb. 22.—Many young men have been lost in France by the fact that their blood was out of order and impure when they started out in this campaign as soldiers at the front. Many of them never reached the battle line because they were taken sick in camp, due to stomach and bowel troubles, and with blood powerless to resist. Young men and old men in America should be just as watchful of their blood to see that it is pure, that their stomach is acting well and the liver active.

It takes lots of vitality, nervous force and strength to win a race. Blood must be pure and good.

Keep the nerves nourished, the heart strong, the head cool, the stomach vigorous, the liver active with a tonic which has stood the test of time and has a wide reputation, such as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the world's great Blood Purifier; it enters joints, dissolves the impure deposits and carries them out, as it does all impurities, through the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

If you have indigestion, sluggish liver, backache over the kidneys, nasal or other Catarrh, unsteady nerves or unsightly skin, get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today and start at once to replace your impure blood with the kind that puts energy and ambition into you and brings back youth and vigorous action.—(adv.)

Acute Articular Rheumatism

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schultze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-Kamnia Tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headaches, neuralgias and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets.

POLICE SITUATION TO BE DISCUSSED

ex-officio member, declared Monday that he regarded the essentials of the plan to be in line with the progress of the city and the growth of the police department.

It is said that Councilman Johnson has already discussed the plan with other members of the general council in conference.

Letton Quits Race.

Commissioner J. F. Letton, police board representative from the sixth ward, has announced through Alderman J. Lee Barnes that he will not offer for re-election at the expiration of his term in March, and members of council Monday conceded that Captain James W. English, president of the Fourth National bank, will be elected without opposition to the place.

In his letter to Alderman Barnes, in which he announced that he would not seek re-election, Mr. Letton took occasion to score conditions on the police board. He referred to the long contest over the selection of a chairman.

"I feel that the public generally have become disgusted with the troubles of the police department," he writes, "and I feel that the business men of the city as a rule feel that the board of police commissioners should lay aside petty politics long enough to elect a chairman and organize the board so as to transact the business of the department in the manner it should be and not throttle it as it has for the past year."

Commissioner Letton is serving out the unexpired term of George E. Johnson, who was elected to the place of police recorder when Judge Nash R. Broyles went on the appellate court bench.

It was said that Captain English had sufficient votes in the general council to elect him had he made the race against Mr. Letton, but friends could not induce him to run in opposition to Mr. Letton and the latter was elected.

Foster to Be Named.

Councilman J. N. Renfroe, of the first ward, who is campaigning for W. E. Foster for the police board place in the first ward to succeed Dr. A. H. Baskin, said Monday after carefully canvassing the situation in council, that Foster will be elected over Sam Wardlaw next Monday. Councilman Renfroe stated that Foster has fifteen votes pledged, and in the event of a tie Mayor Woodward will vote to elect him. Wardlaw's friends have refused on several occasions to go into an election when there were twenty-nine members present.

Other races for the police board have not reached the warm stage. John D. Sisson, who is a candidate for alderman against Councilman Jesse B. Lee, says that he will not accept the fifth ward police board place. He believes that if he is elected to the place he will lose some of his warmest supporters in his race for alderman.

suspected offender a hearing. Individuals or corporations so cited shall be given the right to show cause why an order should not be issued against them requiring cessation of violations alleged. If such orders eventually are issued and violations complained of are not stopped, the commission may apply to the circuit court of appeals of the United States for enforcement of its order, the findings of such court to be conclusive. Judgements of the court would be subject to review by the supreme court upon certiorari.

The trade commission also is given power to compile information and make investigation concerning the organization, business, conduct, practices and management of corporations and of their relation to other corporations and associations and to require filing of information by such firms and corporations concerning their affairs. It also is empowered to investigate trade conditions with foreign countries and report to congress with such recommendations as it may deem advisable. In connection with this feature of the work, President Wilson, in a recent speech, indicated the commission could do the work of a tariff commission.

Davies to Be Chairman.

Mr. Davies, it is understood, will be named chairman of the commission. He was first on the list of nominations sent to the senate by the president and received the longest term. Because of his experience in conducting the bureau of corporations the president is understood to deem him well qualified to head the new commission.

George L. Record, of New Jersey, who was seriously considered by the president for one of the places on the commission, is likely to be made its counsellor, it was said tonight. The position pays the same salary as that provided for members of the commission.

Georgia Well Represented.

Washington, February 22.—(Special.) If W. J. Harris, who has been nominated by President Wilson for one of the five places on the federal trade commission, is confirmed, as seems now assured, Georgia will have a representative on the supreme court of the United States in Associate Justice Lamar; one on the insterstate commerce commission in Judson C. Clements, and one on the new federal trade commission.

Since assuming his office in July, 1913, Mr. Harris has established a record for economy in expenditures. He saved $150,000 on the wealth, debt and taxation report, as compared to the record of ten years ago, at the same time completing it in less than one-third the former time. Recently he announced that it would be possible to save $100,000 on the census of manufactures, and to reduce this much the amount the house provided.

A republican senator who was disappointed because not a single republican was named on the commission, said today that a fight would be made on the confirmation of the commissioners. He said that Mr. Harris had dropped a census of child labor to take up a census of agriculture which was to cost $2,286,000.

When asked about this tonight Mr. Harris denied the report, saying that he himself had resurrected the figures on child labor, but had not ordered the work completed as other matters were now more pressing.

MANY DECISIONS DUE BY THE SUPREME COURT

Washington, February 22.—Forty or fifty decisions are expected tomorrow when the supreme court reconvenes after a three weeks' recess. No intimation has been given, however, as to what cases will be decided of the more than one hundred now pending.

Most of more important cases deal with the validity of state laws. Among these are "Grandfather Clause" legislation in Oklahoma and Maryland, the Indiana safety appliance law; West Virginia 2-cent passenger law; the Ohio and Kansas motion picture censor law; the Oregon minimum wage law; the California 8-hour law and the Ohio anti-screen coal law.

The validity of the withdrawal from entry in 1909 by former President Taft of a vast area of public lands in California and Wyoming before legislation authorizing withdrawal had been passed, and the enforcibility of oil leases; the right of the interstate commerce commission to inspect the correspondence of railroads; the validity of the coal sales contracts of the Delaware, Lackawanan and Western Railroad company, are involved in other suits.

Two anti-trust suits, those against the St. Louis Terminal railroads and the South African steamship conference, also aer before the court.

HIRE-A-MAN CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., February 22.—Under the direction of the department of public works, a "hire-a-man" campaign for the relief of the unemployed was inaugurated here today. The department expects to secure the co-operation of churches, clubs and other organizations as well as individuals and requests that repair work and other odd jobs, "which would be done anyhow two months hence," be done at once. In this way, a statement issued by the department says, hundreds of men who are out of work would be given employment. It is also planned to get municipal contracts under way at the earliest possible date.

Leo Frank Case May Come Before the Supreme Court Some Time Today.

Washington, February 22.—(Special.)—Warren Grice, attorney general of Georgia, and Hugh M. It is expected that Henry C. Peeples, of Atlanta, and Louis Marshall, of New York, will argue the case for the appellant.

C. Wheeler Mangum, sheriff of Fulton county, is reported to have left Atlanta this afternoon to come to Washington to appear in the court. There is no particular reason why Mr. Mangum should appear in person. He just wanted to come.

There are three or four cases already assigned for argument tomorrow when the court reconvenes, and it is possible that the Frank case may not be reached until Wednesday or Thursday.

WHY LETTON RETIRES!

In declining to stand for re-election as a member of the police board, Commissioner J. F. Letton gives as his reason the belief that the "public generally have become disgusted with the troubles of the police department." He also speaks strongly against the "petty politics" which has dominated the board to the detriment of the efficiency of that body, the police department and the public welfare.

Mr. Letton has accurately read public sentiment in its attitude toward the perpetual wrangling of the police board. If it has sickened him, politically, it has also worn the public to a frazzle.

It is not strange that burglaries and other crimes increase, when the police force is demoralized by the example of absence of discipline set by the body assumed to govern it. For almost a year the board in its squabbles has been describing a series of circles. It has accomplished nothing, except to tax forbearance and threaten the morale of the police force. Whether or not the members intended it, their attitude has been that their little, petty personal political games come first, and the public welfare second, and a far second, at that.

With the retirement of Commissioner Letton from the race, it is likely that Captain James W. English will be elected to succeed him. Captain English's strength of personality and his wide popularity, together with his long experience and knowledge of the affairs of the police department, offer hope that his election will ultimately bring a solution to the present tangle. This seems to be the one hope!

As it is, the police board itself stands discredited, making a farce of rather than performing the functions for which it is assumed to hold office.

One thing is certain: If the warring commissioners cannot get together, one of the best things they can do is to follow the example of Mr. Letton and—retire! The status is a menace not only to discipline in the department, but to life and property in the city.

THE SAME OLD SCRAMBLE.

If any American doubts the need of the budget system in handling congressional appropriations, he has only to turn to the annual spectacle congress now is staging of "jamming through" in the eleventh hour of a session most of the great supply bills. The estimate is that the senate must, if an extra session is to be avoided or even if one is to be called, "spend" $100,000,000 each for the next six days. How much the public will know about the merits or demerits of these various appropriations does not need to be elaborated. The question of placing responsibility will be still more impossible.

The congressman who glibly defends this ancient and unbusinesslike system will insist that, after all, appropriation bills are made up in committee and in such form as to afford ample publicity.

It is true that the skeletons of the big supply bills are made up in committee. But they are mangled beyond recognition after they reach the floor of the house or the senate, and what happens to them in conference depends almost exclusively upon the dexterity of house and senate leaders in "trading." In the rush and confusion always incident to adjournment many unworthy items are put through, and those that ought to be enacted are easily "chloroformed."

The budget system, which has been recommended successively by three American presidents, and which is an accepted commonplace of European parliamentary expenditure, provides a definite check over irresponsibility and holds the appropriating body squarely within the lines of that which it may spend.

Congress, for example, goes ahead on the lordly assumption that the money is coming from somewhere, and appropriates right and left without regard as to who is to pay the piper. The budget system would stop this. At the beginning of each session it would provide congress, and, incidentally, the country, with an estimate from each department of what it will need for maintenance and expansion; and a detailed estimate from the treasury department of the anticipated income of the government for the impending fiscal year. If congress, in pursuit of "pork barrel" methods, sees fit to step over the line, the country will have no difficulty in placing the responsibility. It is merely a matter of bookkeeping and publicity.

For obvious reasons, congress has been sidetracking the budget plan. A nation newly awakened to the value of economizing will not much longer tolerate such evasion.

BANNING THE BUZZARD.

State Senator Wells, of Florida, wants the state to place a bounty on the slaughter of buzzards, emphasizing the fact that science has driven about the last nail in the coffin of the old superstition which gave the buzzard immunity as a scavenger. Science now says, and with definite proof, that the buzzard is an agent for the spreading of hog cholera, and other diseases, among animals and human beings. Therefore, the buzzard must go.

Not many years ago the buzzard was hailed as nature's garbage disposal plant. The uncouth bird was assumed to keep down the disease and death rates. People who visited Charleston, S. C., will remember how the buzzards haunted the historic market place in that city, protected by city law. Other cities and many counties followed suit.

Now science has stripped the buzzard of illusion and it must go. It is interesting to observe that some of the men most active in the anti-buzzard propaganda in south Georgia have been demonstration agents of the government. They are encountering some difficulty in upturning tradition, but are making steady progress.

MUSIC AND WAR.

Through a strange oversight, no provision for regimental bands seems to have been made for the new army Kitchener is recruiting for England. Himself the embodiment of silence and lack of emotion, what the British troops might suffer through the absence of musical accessories does not seem to have occurred to him, although it appears his long military experience would have taught him the value of music in war.

The oversight is to be remedied, it is reported, largely by public subscription. Full bands are to be provided in some instances. But the more frequent arrangement is to be simply for a fife and drum corps. Anyone who has listened to the stirring melody thrown out by this combination does not need any elaboration to know the part it may play in the fighting.

It is curious how the taste of the average soldier runs, when it comes to the music which is to supply him inspiration by which to fight and, perhaps, die. In the Spanish-American war none of the more or less stately "national hymns" were in vogue. Instead, that rollicking bit of "rag," "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" furnished the "pepper" for most of the fights of consequence. In the British-Boer war they used to hum, while ramming down cannon ball, "Here's Another Lump of Sugar for the Bird," or "A Little Bit Off the Top." It is said that in the Far Eastern war the Russians did some of their best fighting to the tune of a nondescript ballad, the substance of which was a constant reiteration of "Ivan's in the Garden Picking Cabbages." What the Japs chose we do not know, but we may well imagine that when they went into battle it was to the lilt of some saucy tune rather than a dignified national "anthem." The "Tipperary" of the present war is, of course, familiar to every one.

Music is as inseparable from war as powder and shot or the sword. The two are firmly associated in the popular mind and in the mind of the soldier. It is easy to imagine that in some of the great European battles when men come to close grips, the lure of music is forgotten. But in the preliminaries, the working up of "esprit" which is so important a part of warfare, it is a recognized factor.

No wonder the French are exilarated when they win a victory in Champagne.

It would be interesting to hear the opinion of George Washington on some of the political platitudes uttered in his name.

All the nations want peace with "honor." The trouble will arise over defining the latter word.

Boy scouts all over the country will regret the retirement of Ernest Thompson Seton as chief of the Boy Scouts. He gave "ginger" and purpose to the organization.

It must be highly agonizing to the old world powers to observe Japan grabbing for China, while their own hands are tied hopelessly on the other side of the world.

What a pity the military phrase, "strategic retreat," which is polite language for a rout, wasn't discovered in time for the civil war.

And all these foreign "situations" are that many excuses for a Bryan lecture.

Probably the next best thing to knowing how to fight is when to beat it.

COMPENSATIONS

By Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D.

REV. J. WILBUR CHAPMAN, D.D.

"I will restore the years."—Joel 2:25.

To be without the memory of a father who was true and a mother who was all that she should be is to suffer a loss which, to some extent, cannot be made up.

The waif found on the street, the boy growing up in the city, homeless and all but friendless, these must go through life with a certain something lacking, which Time, with all its wealth or distinction, can never make up.

But there is one thing even worse than this. That is to have the memory of a father who has hindered you with an inheritance, or the recollection of a mother whose memory is not more and more beautiful as the days go by.

But in the face of such discouragements success may be won.

Years ago a waif was found on the streets of a southern city. A few days ago he became the governor of his state.

Fifty years ago a little baby was found on the steps of a beautiful home in an eastern city. Today he is a minister of the gospel.

There are compensations which, for those who suffer loss, should not be forgotten.

It is said that we inherit but half our tendency for good or bad from our immediate ancestors, one-fourth from our grandparents, one-eighth from our great-grandparents and so on. All of which goes to make up a balance which seems to be just.

But, best of all, God has said: "I will be a father to the fatherless." Again, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you." And yet again we are told, "When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up."

What hinders us, He overcomes.
What is lacking, He will supply.

THE SPADE.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The spade is a humble, inglorious implement of warfare which has met the mighty field howitzer and has defeated it.

The spade does not shake the earth with its roarings, nor does it tear great armies into mournful remains. It was not designed as an implement of warfare at all. For centuries the valiant warrior looked with disdain upon the spade and only used it after the battle was over to perform the last sad duties of war. But in the last half century the soldier has looked back upon the small, unimposing spade, strapped across his shoulders, with a great deal of relief.

It has enabled him to bury himself before the enemy got a chance to do it.

When the present war burst furiously upon mankind the powers marshalled their machine guns and cannon with eagerness and began to blow each other off the map. Less than a month it became evident that the population of the warring countries could not keep the gun busy for more than a few months at the rate of progress then being made. Shortly after this the spade was substituted for the gun and the armies of Europe descended into the ground while still in good health.

The busy little spade has made a joke out of the 42-centimeter cannon.

For the last four months they have remained there. The cannon of Europe have dug vast holes in the ground, but the spades have riddled northern France with tunnels, trenches, caves, underground hotels, subterranean headquarters and sub-cellar clubrooms.

The busy little spade has made a joke out of the 42-centimeter cannon and has enabled the soldier for the first time in history to snap his fingers airily at winter. Living 20 feet underground, far away from the blizzards and searching for the enemy with a short-handled army spade, is a comparatively healthy occupation.

The ideal soldier of the future will be a broad-shouldered miner who may not know which end of a gun to point at the enemy but who can perform marvels with a spade. Drills will consist of digging trenches in quick and double time, running parallels in close formation and charging through the hard clay, 30 feet under ground, at the rate of 10 yards an hour.

Since the spade has taken charge of the western war the armies have not been moved 10 miles. Enough dirt has been moved to dig all the subways in the world, and if the allies get to Germany in the course of years they will not have seen four furlongs of the country on the way.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

THE OLD BOOK SHOP.

I dig around in dusty nooks—it's less a habit than a vice—and ponder over ancient books I'd like to own—but lack the price. The shop is dark, and cobwebs hang down from the ceiling and the shelves; and every day the same old gang drift in there to refresh themselves. The same old fans in rusty black, with old-time lids upon their domes; the workday world may jump the track—they'd dare not, if they have their domes; The same old sports with misty eyes come in to paw the volumes old; they paw them, but none ever buys, for book fans seldom have the gold. The owner, in his rusty black, the most unpractical of men, puts time-worn volumes on a rack, then sighs, and takes them down again. In this old shop trade's always slack, for who would buy such junk and trash? And everything is rusty black, and no one cares a cent for cash. The owner and the ancient fans, who chortle o'er some printed treat, don't understand our modern plans, which rest upon a balance sheet. They do not comprehend the hosts who wear away their lives for gold; they're living always with the ghosts of all the mighty men of old. If you should seek the old book shack, to spend a roll of money there, the old, old men in rusty black will flume with anger and despair!

Secretary Cooper Takes Issue With Messrs. Akers and Armistead

Editor Constitution: I cannot agree with Messrs. J. S. Akers and J. Carroll Payne, in sustaining Alderman Armistead in holding up for two weeks, by a motion to reconsider, the closing of a contract between the city and the Southeastern Fair association. The action of the city and county in this matter will make it possible to put to work in a short time four or five hundred men who sadly need the work and will assure an enterprise that will mark the beginning of a new era in Atlanta, Georgia and the south.

These gentlemen show by what they say that they have wholly misconceived this enterprise. It is no more like their description than a midway is like a university. There is no one connected with it who would waste his time on such affairs as were held at Piedmont park a few years ago. Only two events of this kind that ever happened here are to be compared with the great permanent exhibit which we have modeled after the Toronto fair. Those were the expositions of 1881 and 1895.

The first was a starting point for the material reconstruction of the south and had the backing of the leading men of the city, as was the case of the great Cotton exposition of 1895.

Atlanta was a provincial city before that event. Now, with nearly three times the population, it is the recognized metropolis of the southeast, excelling all other southern cities in some important particulars. In banking and finance, it is ten times as big at it was then.

Nothing ever gave the city such a stimulus as that fair, though it lasted but 100 days and was not renewed.

During those 100 days there were on the ground 3,500 editors and newspaper correspondents, twenty-six state press associations, twenty-five governors and two presidents, Cleveland and McKinley, the latter then governor of Ohio.

The fair secured about 100,000 press notices of Atlanta, including not only publications in English, but in French, German, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Greek, Arabic, Chinese and Japanese. Nothing before or since ever advertised Atlanta like that exposition and nothing did so much to make this city a metropolis.

Let us hope that the spirit of the men who made those fairs and made Atlanta is not dead.

What we propose now is not a temporary exhibit, but a permanent annual fair, in permanent buildings, filled with great exhibits of agriculture, horticulture, animals and manufactures. It is our intention to start with $150,000 invested in concrete buildings and $75,000 in operating capital. The first is to be furnished by city and county, the second by public-spirited citizens. These citizens can never receive either dividend or interest; if the fair is the success we hope to make it, they will get back their principal, but never more than one-fifth of the net earnings of any one year can be used to repay them.

These gentlemen seem to think the fair is for the benefit of Whitehall street. It will benefit the retail trade, because it is impossible to bring half a million or a million people here without bringing a great deal of business. Dallas had 600,000 and Toronto a million in two weeks. But that, though important, is only an incidental benefit. The main object is to build up agriculture and industry in the southeast and so multiply the products and the purchasing power of Atlanta's territory.

Great Successes Elsewhere.

All the great agricultural states of the middle west, which lead the union in agricultural products, especially in food crops and animal industry, have great agricultural fairs, many of which are handsomely supported by appropriations from public funds. The Toronto fair is owned by the city of Toronto, which stands as its financial sponsor, but it is so well managed that there is a surplus every year to invest in permanent improvements. We have it from the mayor of Toronto and from Mr. Joseph Oliver, president of the exhibition, that more than $2,000,000 of these permanent improvements now on the ground, have been paid for out of the net earnings. The attendance for several years has been a little over a million in two weeks. In fourteen years the taxable values of the city of Toronto have increased from $125,000,000 to $516,000,000; bank clearings from 513 millions to 2,181 millions, and the value of buildings from $2,000,000 to $27,000,000. In the meantime agriculture has prospered and the farmers are living in two-story brick houses.

The Lakewood fair originated years ago in the chamber of commerce committee on agriculture.

We began with the corn show. In four years it has accomplished substantial results. Mr. Phil Campbell, state agent of the corn club and farm demonstration work for Georgia, has said repeatedly that this corn show had done more than any other one thing to stimulate that work. All these agencies working together have increased the Georgia corn crop from 39,000,000 to 63,000,000 bushels in four years. Isn't that worth while?

The farm demonstration work of the government, the State College of Agriculture and the work of the state department of agriculture are broadening and the time has come to broaden our work. So the corn show has naturally evolved into a great fair, which means millions to Georgia and millions to Atlanta.

How It Works in Dallas.

Dallas, with its great fair, has made prodigious strides. In ten years the net earnings of the fair have built ten acres of concrete buildings. The business of the city has gone up by leaps and bounds and the municipal government is getting a larger income as the result. The city assessment of proneerty has increased from $39,000,000 to $107,000,000 in eight years, and in the same period wholesale trade jumped from $67,000,000 to $211,000,000. The Dallas Chamber of Commerce says the fair has been the greatest factor in promoting this growth.

Now, in Atlanta, we are going to be confronted with a serious situation if we do not proceed with some great constructive enterprises that will make our territory more productive and increase its purchasing power.

The city of Atlanta spent $65,000 and Fulton county spent $150,000 on the Cotton States exposition, although the ground then was owned by a corporation. Now Atlanta is three times as big and in this case every dollar spent by the city goes into permanent improvements on its own ground and the city gets two dollars put in buildings for every dollar it spends. The enhancement will be great and the city will get a great all-the-year park, which otherwise would be years in developing.

Never were the city's interests better guarded in any contract and never did the city have so good an opportunity to do an immense public service with a moderate appropriation, which will immediately give employment to hundreds now suffering for lack of work. It will in a few years add millions to the wealth of the state and add hundreds of thousands to the city's income by the certain enhancement of property. This is not guesswork, but history in Toronto, Dallas and other cities.

The same objections were made when the Auditorium-Armory was built just after a panic, but we went on and everybody can see that it was a wise investment and a bonanza for Atlanta.

Mr. Payne is a public-spirited man and it is a pity to see him against a great progressive movement which means so much to Atlanta and the south. He has misunderstood our proposition.

Mr. Armistead is the only man in thirty members of council who voted against this enterprise. Is it not a fair presumption that he is wrong? It is a pity that he should be wrong when it cuts hundreds of good men out of employment.

W. G. COOPER.

WHAT MIGHT BE DONE FOR THE UNEMPLOYED ATLANTA WOMEN.

By Isma Dooly.

Comes Miss Susan McClellan, a very small, but very able young woman, at the moment one of the army of Atlanta's unemployed women, who would help herself, and at the same time help others!

Her suggestion is that there be established for the unemployed Atlanta women who have wares to sell a central bureau or shop where they can place these wares on sale. Her idea is to have the enterprise backed by some woman's organization which has the help of women as one of its aims.

Miss McClellan, like every other woman who works in Atlanta, and who knows conditions not from having heard of them, but actually having made a partial survey of them, knows that the Associated Charities as always is doing all that is possible to help the unemployed. She knows that the church organizations are doing their part, that various committees are working for the establishment of a municipal employment bureau, and aiming at splendidly constructive programs, along various lines that will bear fruit, but Miss McClellan believes that even with this going on there should be some definite place where women unemployed can go now for information and counsel—where their work can be put on the market.

What They Can Do.

There are many Atlanta women who are most capable with the needle, who can embroider shirtwaist patterns, children's clothing, table and bed linens, but these women can not always peddle their wares. They have to stay at home in many cases and keep house. If there were just a central market, where until the constructive plans being formed bear fruit, these unemployed Atlanta women could place their work on sale, and money could be realized at once by many women who need it—and need it right now!

There are women who can make good cakes and breads, who can paint pretty fancy articles, and who can do many things with their hands, and these would be benefited by a central place where they could go and establish themselves.

"Not only are there many women," stated Miss McClellan, yesterday, "who have worked and are out of employment, but there are many women who have never worked before, and now feel the immediate necessity to do so. It is no worse here than elsewhere. In some directions things are looking brighter, and women who did not have work last week have it this, but there is still the very urgent necessity for Atlanta to do something, looking to her army of patient, cheerful, unemployed women!"

Y. W. C. A. Doing Its Part.

Miss Courtney, of the Young Women's Christian association, is the busiest woman in the world doing all she can through the facilities for the unemployed women, but she can handle no more than she is at present doing.

Will not some organization come forward and consider the very practical idea of relief right now for the women who need it? Can't some organization already organized do it? It takes a long time to organize, and meet, and draw up resolutions and appoint committees.

If the central market is established for woman's work, many will come forward and help, and she believes it may lead to a temporary bureau for unemployed women until the city will have established one.

The purpose of setting forth Miss McClellan's plan is not to agitate, not to take from any other plan, but just to suggest a practical thing that can be done if somebody is willing to do some practical, tangible thing for unemployed women, many brave ones of whom there are—Miss McClellan, an example. Miss McClellan is an artist by profession, one of the best known in the city. Her eyes have prevented her during the last six months from pursuing that profession at present, but in the meantime she is unemployed. In the movement she suggests of the central market where women might dispose of their wares is one through which she might help herself and help those who, like herself, are temporarily unemployed.

The Holland Letter

That a commission appointed officially by the Rumanian government has recently visited the United States was known to comparatively few persons. That this commission sailed a day or two ago for Rumania was known only to those with whom its members had been in business and personal association in this country. The members of this commission were fairly representative of the intellectual, industrial, commercial and political interests of Rumania. Each one was a man of strong character. All are understood to have spoken and acted with singular discretion, possibly because a like discretion was shown on the part of the Americans they met. Nothing was said or done which justified any inference that Rumania leans either to one side or to the other, so far as the European war is concerned. But it was evident that the members of this commission are deeply concerned about the national interests of Rumania and are anxious that the kingdom be thoroughly prepared for whatever emergency may arise, either soon or by and by.

There were intimations [redacted] one of the conversations Americans had with the commission, including one who was formerly a minister of the United States to Rumania, that the people of that kingdom have profound confidence in and admiration for the queen. Not that there is any lack of confidence in or admiration for the king, but the queen has revealed herself, especially in the past six months, as so devoted to the interest of Rumania and has frequently so wisely counseled in matters of state that there is now recognition throughout the kingdom of the fact that there is in the queen one of the great women of the present day.

Near Kin to Kaiser.

Queen Marie is a granddaughter of Queen Victoria and, therefore, near kin to the kaiser. She is to be in strong domestic alliance, however, with one of the nations now engaged in war with Germany—Russia—for one of her sons is to marry a daughter of the czar and czarina. One of her daughters, a very beautiful young woman, is to be the bride of the crown prince of Greece, yet from these domestic alliances there is to be drawn no reasonable inference that the queen favors either the allies or Germany and Austria.

The Rumanian commission visited the United States purely for business purposes. Rumania is anxious to secure abundant material which will enable the kingdom to be thoroughly prepared for any emergency. Before the war began Rumania secured, partly from Austria and partly from Germany, substantially all of her military supplies and ammunition. Some ammunition was manufactured at Buda Pest. Within a few days after the war began, Rumania was convinced that as soon as existing contracts with Germany and with Austria for ammunition were filled it was not probable that she would longer rely upon Germany or Austria for supplies of this kind. Furthermore, war material of all kinds, especialy rifles, which had formerly been bought in Germany, were now practically in embargo, so that Rumania could not rely upon Germany for her needed supply of rifles. The government contemplated manufacturing rifles upon a large scale and there is some reason for surmising that in order to obtain the necessary equipment for an arsenal where rifles are manufactured, Rumania has turned to the United States. There were many other materials useful and necessary to perfect the military preparation of Rumania which is was learned could at this time be obtained only in the United States.

The First Step.

In order to be prepared for meeting payments for whatever purchases were made in the United States Rumania perfected a financial arrangement with Great Britain, probably not through this commission or any member of it, but through other official representatives of Rumania and England, whereby a sufficient credit was established in London for Rumania, by means of which drafts drawn in payment for munitions, equipments and other commodities could be met. The commission was aware when it reached this country that the financing of American purchases, if any were made, was perfectly cared for.

When the commission began to make inquiries in the United States of those who manufacture the kind of material Rumania needs it was speedily learned that our American industries were fully able to meet these demands unless a single contingency interposed. But, unfortunately, that was precisely the contingency which did arise, and which compelled the Rumanian commission to return without having been—excepting in a single instance—successful. Rumania wanted to have the commodities for which contracts were made delivered at a certain early date, but it was discovered that the American industries which manufacture these commodities are now operating to their full capacity and could not accept orders unless a remote date was fixed for the execution of the contract.

The incident illustrates the extent of the demand made upon the American manufacturers at this time, especially for war equipment and the like. Most of these industries are now operating in fulfillment of contracts which must so be executed that the commodities can be delivered within a few months.

She Does Not Want Food.

The commissioners frankly said that Rumania is in no need of any food supplies, although she does possess a market for raw cotton. She has ample wheat, plenty to sell, or did have wheat in plenty in the fall.

An incident was narrated by one of the commissioners tending to show how great Rumania's wheat supplies are. Before the war began Rumania had entered into contract with Austrian manufacturers for a very large supply of ammunition, principally of cartridges. These cartridges were completed and ready for delivery about the time the war began. But they were withheld. Rumania made constant demand for the delivery of the cartridges, but the demand was unheeded. It looked like a secret embargo upon the export of ammunition of this kind.

Some time in the early fall while the trouble over the shipment of cartridges was pending, Austria bought a large amount of wheat in Rumania. There stood at the stations near the frontier over 1,000 cars loaded with wheat. Austria had paid for this wheat and was daily looking for its delivery. The Rumanian authorities, however, felt justified in saying politely, but emphatically, that unless Austria permitted the ammunition which Rumania had bought from Austrian manufacturers to be delivered to Rumania, then Rumania would decline to permit the wheat which was all ready for delivery, to cross the Austrian border. As one of the commissioners expressed it, the proposition was reduced to these simple terms, "No cartridges, no wheat." This communication was instantly effective. The delivery of the cartridges began, and was completed within a few days, and then Rumania sent the wheat which Austria had purchased across the border. The commissioner said that there had been no publication of this incident either in Rumania or in Austria, but seemed to feel that there was no reason why it should not be reported anecdotally to American friends.

Like Stephens' Ship Bill.

Editor Constitution: I have clipped your editorial of February 18, entitled "The Principle Is Good," and recommends the Stephens bill from California, in regard to building vessels for coastwise trade, and using them as transports, colliers and hospital ships if necessary during times of trouble.

It is certainly much better to do this than having them wasting their time and money simply doing nothing during times of peace.

This, in my opinion, would be a much better bill to get through congress than the shipping bill, and I trust the next congress will do something of that kind.

CHAPMAN SPEAKS TO RAILROAD MEN

Scores of Men and Women Shake Hand of Preacher and Pledge Themselves to Better Lives.

"Hallelujah! We'll have 'Railroad Night' again, if they come like this."

That's what Charles M. Alexander, the "singing evangelist," shouted at the top of his voice Monday night after he had looked down from the high platform on which he stood and saw men and women marching down each of the three sawdust aisles to shake the hand of Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman and pledge themselves to lead better lives.

There was a chorus of "Amens" and the choir began to sing "I Will Arise and Go to Jesus."

Four times Dr. Chapman, at the revival tabernacle, after he had preached a powerful sermon based on the scriptural injunction "Prepare to Meet Thy God," extended the invitation to the great throng that filled the entire hall and after each call for converts there gathered scores of men and women.

It Was "Railroad Night."

It was "Railroad Night" at the tabernacle and approximately ten rows of seats in the front of the hall were reserved for the employees of the railroads entering Atlanta and their families. Some of the employees came alone, others brought their wives or sweethearts and several had their children alongside them. It was the first of the "special nights" set apart for delegations representing organizations, which will hereafter be a feature of the meetings.

The sermon was one of the strongest yet preached by Dr. Chapman and as he emphasized the importance of "getting right with God" in view of the uncertainty of life, there were tears in the eyes of hundreds of his hearers. Big, strong engine men, who are wont to face all sorts of danger and "tight" places in their daily work along the tracks, bowed their heads in silent prayer and sobbed. A few of them marched to the front when the invitation was given by the evangelist and in their hands were their handkerchiefs These they placed to their eyes as they whispered a word of sorrow into the ear of Dr. Chapman and they seemed to have been suddenly brightened when the evangelist grasped their hands and said a word of cheer to each.

Dr. Chapman asked the "Christians" in the audience to turn to the man or woman next to them and invite him or her to go down front. The suggestion was taken quickly and in an instant men and women in all parts of the hall could be seen turning to their neighbors and whispering to them the invitation to "accept Christ." In the marchers down the sawdust aisles were not only strong men and middle-aged and elderly women, but boys and young girls, some of whom were in tears. One young girl, about 17 years old, well-dressed and "one of the prettiest creatures in the hall," as one of the workers put it, sobbed aloud and placed her head on Dr. Chapman's shoulders as she whispered that hereafter she "will be a better girl."

Unbelief Is Greatest Sin.

In his sermon Dr. Chapman emphasized the fact that no amount of intellectual equipment, social prestige or financial greatness, if Christ is left out, will prepare any man or woman to meet God. He declared that unbelief is the greatest sin that any person can commit—bar none—and read several scriptural texts to emphasize the truth of his assertion.

He pleaded especially with the railroad men, which he declared to be the one class, above all others, that needs to make peace with God so that they may be properly guided in their care of the lives of thousands of passengers who each day entrust themselves to the engineers.

To emphasize the importance of "getting right with God" at once, he repeated statistics which show, he said, that the average life is less than 30 years and that persons who have attained that age are "living on borrowed time."

His sermon follows:

Dr. Chapman took for his text Monday evening: "Prepare to meet thy God." Amos 4:12.

"The sermon follows:

"This is one of the texts of Scripture which startles whenever it faces us. There are two Scriptures which ought to be read together, the first, 'In the beginning God,' Genesis 1:1, and the second, 'I saw the dead small and great stand before God,' Revelation 20:12, and between these two texts runs a remarkable story. We learn of Him as Creator, Ruler, Father, and finally He stands before us as the Judge, and as we think of facing Him, faces whiten, we tremble, and without Christ we are in despair.

"The Bible is also one long story ever increasing in interest, which tells us of God's love, and as we know the Bible we find out that it is constantly telling us the story of God's mercy as well as His righteousness, and that His Word is just one long invitation to man to turn unto Him and live. If we were to stand in the presence of an earthly potentate we would of necessity prepare ourselves for the reception. It is a strange thing therefore that men will live so indifferently, so yield themselves to sin, and to turn against God whom one day they must face.

Because There Is a God.

"Just because He exists we must prepare to meet Him. There are so many arguments to prove the existence of the Divine Being, and on every side there are such evidences of His existence that it seems almost an insult to one's intelligence to try to present the proof, for example, the argument from creation. How in the world could we have the beauties of nature, the glory of sunrise and sunset, the placing of the planets in their orbits, the setting of the stars in the skies, and all moving in such perfect harmony? How could we have these merely by chance?

"The argument from design. How could we have the perfect designs in nature in the formation of a blade of grass; the little flower that lifts its head up from the grass; the leaf which flutters from the branch of the tree; the fin of a fish; the wing of a bird; the perfect order of the constellations in the skies; how could we have these things if there were no God?

"The argument which springs from the longing in all men's hearts for that which is above and beyond them, for a God whom they can worship, a Creator whom they can adore, and a Father whom they can love; these arguments face us and to me they seem unanswerable.

"It is inconceivable that there is no God. It is said that the sun is 92,000,000 of miles distant from the earth, and that the nearest fixed star is so far away that if one should start in an airship to reach this star and travel at the rate of 60 miles an hour, millions of years would be required to reach it. How could any man say or think that there is no God, with all the wonders of the heavens staring him in the face, and with all the glories of the earth passing before him as in a panoramic vision?

Omnipotent and Omnipresent.

"He is omnipotent—that is he is possessed of all power. He threw the world into space like a great cannon ball, and it has been moving with perfect precision ever since.

"He is omnipresent—that is, He is everywhere. The Psalmist had it right when in the 139th Psalm, seventh to the twelfth verses, he said:

"'Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from Thy presence?

"'If I ascend up into heaven, Thou are there! If I make my bed in hell, behold, Thou art there.

"'If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea;

"'Even there shall Thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me.

"'If I say, surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night shall be light about me.'

"Light travels at the rate of 186,600 miles a second, but God moves faster than that.

"He is omniscient—that is, He knows all things. You may deceive me and you may deceive others, but you cannot deceive God. If all these things are true you must prepare to meet Him.

You Must Give an Account.

"If God is, and there seems to be no room for argument along this line, we must give an account to Him of the time which we have squandered, of our minds which we have used in other ways than for His glory. Marconi with his mind discovered the wave currents of the air and so controls them that he sends his messages across the sea in a few moments of time. Edison used his mind and has changed the night almost into the day, and we have allowed time to pass on and our minds have failed to go out in thought and praise to God. We must give an account of the use to which we have put our hearts, the seat of our affections.

"William Booth's heart broke over the poor of London, and through the poor of London he reached the poor and the outcast of the world. But our hearts have been filled with selfishness, the thought of pleasure and sometimes, alas, with the thought of sin. We must give an account of our lives which have not been yielded to Him. Our strength has been used in pursuit of wealth, in seeking for fame, in devising new pleasures which might cheer us for a season. We must give an account of our sins, secret sins, hidden from all eyes but God; forgotten sins which will suddenly stand before us at the judgment. We must prepare to meet God, and if we do not prepare we shall be of all men most miserable.

Life Is Uncertain.

"Life is most uncertain. Human nature is exceedingly delicate, and the wheels of the machinery of our lives extremely intricate. A clot of blood towards the heart and we are gone; an accident on the streets, and we face Him; a railway collision and without special warning time is exchanged for eternity.

"This text has to do with the warning issued by the Prophet Amos, and nothing could seem more improbable at the time of its being given than that it should be fulfilled, and yet in fifty years the kingdom was destroyed.

"In one of my first pastorates when I was waiting at the foot of the pulpit stairs to speak to my people, one of my church officers came up and said: 'I could wish for you the same perfect health which has been given to me. I have never had a headache in my life. I have never consulted a doctor on account of illness,' and I envied him because at that time I was far from well.

"One morning my telephone bell rang quickly and I was summoned to his home. The father had risen early in the morning, asked his daughter to meet him in the dining room for he was going to business at an unexpectedly early hour, and his daughter had dressed hurriedly and hastened to the dining room, but he was not there. She called to him and he did not answer. She went to his room, and he was sitting in his chair with his arms folded. Newspaper on his knees, head back, eyes shut, heart still. In fifteen minutes of time with his apparently perfect health he had gone into eternity. It is true he was a man of mature years.

"But the youth is in quite as much danger. When we were sitting one evening at the fireside in our room in Sydney, Australia, I received a message from home saying: 'Charles is dead.' He was my 18-year-old nephew; a boy almost physically perfect; trained in a military school until his muscles were hard as iron and everything about him seemed to prophesy a long life, but after a few days of illness this 18-year-old boy was dead. Life is so uncertain. Tomorrow may be eternity. You must prepare to meet Him.

Preparation Is Necessary.

"The Bible declares that we must be prepared. Jesus said: 'I am the way, the truth and the life; no man cometh unto me but by Him,' and preparation is required that we may know Him and walk with Him. If we but yield ourselves to Him, He will change our minds and help us a heart of flesh. He will enable us to live so that we may please God and stand before Him, not with shame, but with rejoicing. Everything else fails at such a moment as this. Science gives us no admission into the presence of God. Philosophy stands at the closed door of the kingdom and with all its power cannot open the door. Unbelief makes us think while we are living that Christ is not necessary, but when we come to the end unbelief mocks us.

"A friend of mine going to preach in a country village, passing along the board sidewalk with a gentleman who came to meet him, heard a strange sound come from the house which they were passing, and his friend said: 'That is the saddest case I know. An infidel is dying. He has hurt our children, led our boys astray, and has seriously harmed the church. We have all tried to help him and failed,' and through the windows of this home my friend heard this cry from the dying man's lips: 'O Jesus, can't you help me, can't you help me?' Over and over in the night he called it out, and when the morning came he was gone into the presence of the God whom he had mocked and the Savior whom he had resisted.

Where Case Is Hopeless.

"Without preparation the case is hopeless. There are too many things against us. Conscience is against us for it has warned us. Record is against us because there we find the marks of the sins we have committed. God is against us because we would not have Him take charge of our lives. Christ is against us because we spurned His love, and trampled His love under our feet. He called and we would not hear. He loved and we only resisted; He waited and we spurned Him.

Saviour and Judge.

"One day in a western city a gentleman driving a team of horses down the street, lost control of them. They were running furiously when a gentleman sprang from the sidewalk and at the risk of his own life caught the bridle reins and threw the horses back, and saved the man's life. By singular coincidence this man whose life was saved was on trial for his life. The crime charged against him was murder, and by a more strange and remarkable coincidence the judge trying him was the man who had stopped his runaway team. The trial is over, the attorneys have finished their pleas; the jury has returned its verdict, and the judge is saying to the man on trial: 'Have you anything to say why the sentence of death should not be placed upon you?' He arose trembling and said: 'Your honor, I do not think you know me.' And the judge said: 'You must answer my question.' But he said again: 'Your honor, you surely do not know me. I am the man whose life you saved once. I beseech you, have mercy now.' And the judge said: 'I do remember you, and I am extremely sorry for you, but then I was your saviour and today I am your judge, and sentence must be passed.' And He is our Saviour now, able to save to the uttermost, but if we continue to resist He will become the Judge, and God pity us if we are not prepared to meet Him. We have only to acknowledge our sins, to accept Him as our Saviour, to confess Him before men, and to follow Him faithfully, and one day we shall meet God, and He will say: 'Well done, well done!'"

OVER 100 CONVERTS GATHER IN "THE LITTLE BACK ROOM" AS THOUSANDS SING OUTSIDE

By J. Walter LeCraw.

When Dr. Chapman issued the invitation for converts Monday night, and the thousands who were crowded in the revival tabernacle took up the now familiar strain, "I Will Arise and Go to Jesus," a new system of handling the converts of the revival was instituted, which proved a big success on its first trial.

Instead of gathering on the front seats of the great auditorium, where the personal workers moved among them and sought to persuade them to sign the cards of enrollment in the church, all those coming forward at the invitation were greeted with a handshake by Dr. Chapman, and were then led by the ushers and other workers to a small room in the rear of the tabernacle.

Here they were welcomed by the band of personal workers, who discussed with them their individual circumstances and denominational leanings, and usually obtained their signatures to the enrollment cards.

Crowd Grows to 100.

Starting with only three men, the first to come forward, the gathering of converts in this "little back room," as it was called, gradually grew until there were over a hundred who had answered the invitation and assembled. All the while the great audience out in the main auditorium continued singing. Charles M. Alexander led the chorus in one song after another, until four invitation hymns had been sung.

Near the close of the invitation Dr. Chapman left the main hall, where he had been welcoming the converts who came forward, and himself joined the gathering in the "little back room." There he made a short talk to the converts, congratulating them on the step they had taken and exhorting them to live better lives from that hour.

So successful was this plan of conducting the revival invitation that it is expected the plan will be continued during the rest of the series.

A large part of the personal work, however, will still take place out in the main auditorium, for under the efficient system that Mr. Norton has originated, personal workers are stationed in every section of the tabernacle to speak to the people in the audience and invite them personally to come forward.

SHE DENIES DAUGHTER MARRIED GRANTHAM

Mrs. Robins Refuses to Allow Anybody to Interview Her Daughter About Case.

Savannah, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—A new phase of the Grantham-Robins secret marriage case developed today when the mother of Miss Elise Robins, the pretty golden-haired bride of the Ohio bigamist, issued a statement positively denying that her daughter had ever married the around-the-world walker. Grantham brought dishonor upon the family Saturday by being arrested in Jacksonville, on complaint of another wife in Detroit, who wants him to support her and their child.

A denial of the wedding has been expected from Mrs. Robins, the mother, in view of the fact that the daughter is known to also have a living husband—from whom she was not supposed to be divorced—named Setterich. Mrs. Robins said:

"I might as well attempt to go through a wall of iron as to try to get in this house to talk to Mrs. Setterich; yes, I mean Mrs. Setterich, for that is my daughter's name, for she has never married this man and no one can prove it. She has suffered greatly by the way in which she has been treated by the papers. The time will soon come when the truth will be known. My daughter has been divorced from Mr. Setterich and is now living here with her child and the people of this city are only making it hard for her by continuing to talk."

LESTER IS CONVICTED OF KILLING HIS WIFE

Columbus, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Haywood Lester, who was placed on trial in the superior court this morning on the charge of murdering his wife, was found guilty by the jury tonight at 9:30 o'clock of voluntary manslaughter. Lester, it was alleged, followed his wife from his home to the home of another, where he shot her several times, death resulting. It was alleged that his act was due to jealousy; that he believed his wife was unfaithful to him, and that she had gone to the house where he found and shot her for the purpose of meeting another man. Sentence has not been pronounced.

HOW TO HAVE LONG BEAUTIFUL HAIR

By a Hair Specialist.

It is not hard to stop the hair from falling out and promote its growth if the right means are used. There is no hope for the scalp where the hair roots are dead and the scalp is shiny. However, to those who have not reached this condition, immediate steps should be taken to stop it before it is too late. Here is a simple recipe which you can make at home, that will stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and eradicate scalp eruptions and scalp humors. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine, and apply to the hair, rubbing with the finger tips, two or three times a week. These ingredients can be obtained at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home. This recipe not only promotes the growth of the hair, but darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy.

Cochran for the express purpose of handling only Georgia raised products, announces the opening of a retail store at 68 South Forsyth street, where the people of Atlanta will have opportunity to buy all sorts of Georgia farm products.

The company is handling water-ground flour and meal, south Georgia syrup, north Georgia sorghum, country hams and bacon, fruit and vegetables canned by the girls' canning clubs of the state.

"We are handling any sort of a Georgia farm product that anyone wants to buy," says Mr. Cochran, "and are handling only such things of this sort as are raised in Georgia."

The wholesale house of the Georgia Products company will be located on Central avenue, from where Georgia products will be handled in carload lots or smaller shipments and will be sold either in the local market or in other cities and states, wherever the best price prevails.

DETECTIVES GET INTO TROUBLE BY REPORTS SENT

Athens, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) One of the warmest campaigns against "tigering," shady hotels, poker games and the like is being waged that Athens has ever seen. Chairman H. H. Gordon, Jr., of the police committee, having been delegated the responsibility for the work of the police department, employed detectives from an Atlanta agency, and these secret service men have been turning up cases to the number of a dozen or so. One of their reports to the head office in Atlanta, it is said, failing of delivery, came back. It is stated that the report, when circulated about here, created a sensation. It was stated that the report spoke of a still being operated in the basement of the big new courthouse, where there are several revenue prisoners serving terms, and alluded to the county officers as knowing of its presence. This was exploded and the sheriff swore out warrants for J. W. Jones, one of the detectives, charging him with selling liquor, wholesale and retail. The detectives, it is said, explain that they sold to suspects to better catch the retail tigers and, under the promise that they should not be disturbed in this new method of "playing tiger to catch a tiger."

Two parties visited the room of the detective, it is charged, and with pistols compelled him to leave the city. When the cases were called, the city had no witness and the immense crowd gathered to hear the cases was disappointed. A second time the cases were set for this morning, but a second time the witnesses were absent. The warrants on Jones have not been served.

WARRANT FOR KANNETT ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Rome, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) That James Oscar Kannett married a young girl in South Carolina and is living with her though already married to a young Lindale woman, formerly Miss Connie Hayes, is the statement made in a warrant sworn out before Justice H. B. Brouch by Jeff Anderson, a brother-in-law of wife No. 1. According to Anderson, Kannett, after deserting his South Carolina wife, married to a young Lindale woman, forbe unmarried. Later, however, he returned to his first wife, telling her that he had been living with the Lindale girl, but had not married her. Records in the ordinary's office, however, show that he was married to Miss Hayes in 1914.

LACY BEGINS SERVING HIS 10-YEAR SENTENCE

Montgomery, Ala., February 22.—Theo Lacy, former chief clerk of the state convict bureau, began serving a ten-year sentence in the Alabama state prison at Wetumpka today, the state court of appeals having recently affirmed a conviction on a charge of embezzling $50,000.

Lacey was tried on another indictment recently and received a sentence of six years, which sentence is now before the court of appeals. Other indictments against Lacy and James G. Oakley, former head of the convict department, are expected to be reached by the Montgomery county criminal court which convened today.

Lacy disappeared in March, 1913, after having drawn about $100,000 of the department's money from local banks on the prextext of making a "cash settlement" with the state treasurer. Large rewards were offered for his apprehension. In January, 1914, Lacy walked into the county jail here and surrendered. None of the money has ever been recovered.

Before entering the penitentiary, Lacy issued a statement asserting his belief that he would ultimately prove his innocence of any unlawful intent. His unbroken silence has been a shield for certain friends, he declared.

Medlock Is Arrested Charged With Assault On a Strike-Breaker

Following one of the most persistent searches ever made by one man for another, Deputy Marshal E. V. Lassiter, of the municipal court, succeeded Monday night in locating George Medlock, a fugitive textile striker of Atlanta, in Manchester, Ga.

Medlock is wanted here on a charge of assaulting with intent to murder Cliff Martinez, who is said to be one of the men brought to Atlanta to take the places of the strikers. The alleged assault is said to have occurred near the Fulton Bag and Cotton mills on February 3.

With Medlock at the time of the assault was A. K. Wilson, also a striker. Wilson was arrested soon after the affray, and was convicted.

Deputy Marshal Lassiter has been trailing Medlock ever since he left Atlanta. Monday night he received word from the sheriff at Manchester stating that Medlock was under arrest. The Atlanta officer left immediately to take custody of the prisoner.

ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS WILL CELEBRATE TODAY

Representatives of Rome Club Coming to Atlanta in a Special Car.

A big delegation from the Rotary club, of Rome, Ga., will arrive in Atlanta this morning to help the Rotary club of Atlanta celebrate the tenth anniversary of "Rotary." The Rome Rotarians will come in over the Southern railway at 11:35 o'clock this morning in a special car attached to train No. 6.

They will be met at the station by prominent members of the Atlanta Rotary club, and will be taken to the Winecoff hotel to "get acquainted." At 1 o'clock the visitors will be taken, along with Atlanta Rotarians, to Kuhn's cafe, at Peachtree street and Edgewood avenue, where there will be a "Rotary luncheon," with the program in charge of the Rome Rotarians.

Following the luncheon the visitors will be taken on a sight-seeing trip through Atlanta. Rotarians here have placed their autos at the disposal of the visitors. At the conclusion of the trip the entire party will adjourn to the banquet room of the Capital City club, where they will be entertained at dinner. The Rotary club of Atlanta will act as host at the banquet, and addresses will be made by several prominent Atlantans. It has been arranged to distribute special souvenirs in honor of the celebration.

Earl H. Cone is chairman of the entertainment committee in charge of the "Rotary jubilee."

Expert Who Addressed Women About Schools Declared an Impostor

Dr. H. Durman, who addressed a meeting of Atlanta women on school matters on February 6, has been denounced as an "impostor" by the United States bureau of education, according to information received by the Atlanta board of education.

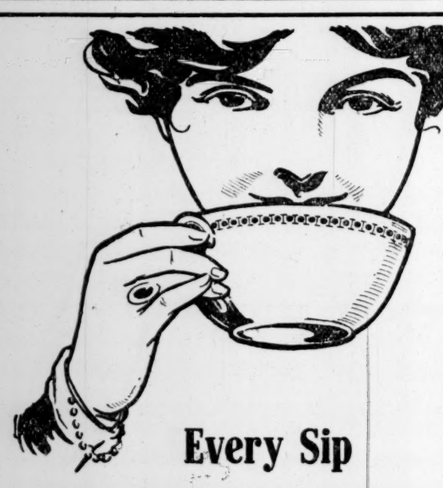

Dr. Durman, it is stated, represented that he was an agent of the national bureau sent out to make a survey of Atlanta's public school system. In reply to a letter of inquiry from a member of the Atlanta board of education, the national bureau has written that no such person is connected with the bureau.

The United States secret service, it is further stated, has been asked to locate Durman.

REVENUE OFFICERS LOCATE BIG STILL

A moonshine whisky still, according to the report of United States officials, has been discovered at the home of John Waller, six miles from Ben Hill in Campbell county. The still is said to have had a capacity of 72 gallons.

The still has been wrecked and Waller placed under a $200 bond. C. H. Waller, his cousin, will have to face the charge of helping to run the still.

Every Sip

of INSTANT POSTUM

Is Satisfaction

and suggests the aroma and flavour of mild high-grade Java. That's because the roasted "berry" of wheat, from which Postum is made, has a snappy flavour remarkably like that of the roasted coffee berry. The real taste is a delightful savor distinctively Postum—rich and nourishing.

Unlike coffee, Postum never imposes upon its users a tribute of headache, nervousness, biliousness, sleeplessness, heart flutter and other ills, because Postum contains not a particle of the coffee-drug, caffeine, or any other harmful ingredient.

INSTANT POSTUM

is the concentrated form of this pure cereal food-drink. No boiling required—made in the cup with hot water—instantly! Wonderfully convenient for the home, for travel, for the picnic—handy anywhere. Delicious! 30c and 50c tins.

If coffee is interfering with your comfort and success, as it does for most users, suppose you shift to POSTUM.

"There's a Reason"

Postum may also be had in the original form—which must be well boiled—15c and 25c packages.

Both forms of Postum are equally wholesome and delicious, and cost per cup about the same.

TRADE BODIES DISCUSS TODAY SHIPPING BILL

The letter which has been sent out to the trade bodies in Georgia, a copy of which was published in Monday's Constitution, was mailed Sunday night to 102 commerical organizations in the state. Of this number about 80 are believed to be in active operation, and President Charles J. Haden, of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, believes he will receive over 75 answers that the meetings will be held Tuesday evening, as suggested, and that at each meeting action will be taken to show that the ship-purchase bill now before congress meets with the indorsement of the people of Georgia.

The organizations representing the business interests of the state have been requested, just as soon as possible, to communicate with the Georgia senators and with the State Chamber of Commerce, and let it be known what action was taken in regard to the ship-purchase bill.

Such concerted action on the part of trade bodies in Georgia has never been taken before. It means the coming together of all the organizations that stand for business progress. It is something new for such action to be taken in order to try to let a senator know how far he is getting away from the wishes of the people, that is, if the bodies take such action as President Haden believes they will.

President Haden is awaiting with great interest for the replies to his letters.

RECORDER REBUKES OFFICER FOR ADVICE ON COURT METHODS

Recorder Johnson told Mounted Officer Askew Monday morning that when he, Johnson, wanted a policeman to run his court he would step down and out, or words to that effect.

The recorder was trying nine negroes charged with shooting craps and the recorder announced that he would give each a fine of $5.75.

"If you fine and do not bind them over," suggested the officer, "they will go right out and shoot craps again. You ought to bind them over."

Then it was that the recorder told the officer that he was running the police court.

NEGRO CONVICT ESCAPES IN A HAIL OF BULLETS

Escaping in a rain of bullets, Ernest Wright, a negro convict, fugitive from Oakland camp, is still at large. Snapping the strap chain which double-shackled his legs, he broke free yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, fleeing into the woods.

He was seen by Guard F. A. Herron, who pumped bullets in direction of the fugitive. None took effect, however. Captain Tom Anderson, deputy warden, was called upon the scene and picked up the negro's trail with bloodhounds. It was soon lost.

SAYS INNES AND WIFE SURE TO LOSE APPEAL

Marshall Nelms Returns to Atlanta After Long Stay in Texas.

Marshall Nelms, son of Mrs. John W. Nelms, and brother of Beatrice and Elois Nelms, the sisters whose disappearance last summer is still an unsolved mystery, has returned to Atlanta to await the decision of the Texas courts in the case of Victor Innes and wife, who are now under arrest in San Antonio.

Young Nelms stated last night that Innes and his wife would, in all probability, be brought to Atlanta this spring for prosecution under the charge of larceny after trust, for which they have been indicted on two counts before the Fulton grand jury. The charge of murder having fallen down in Texas on account of the state's inability to produce corpus delicti, the brother of the missing girls came to Atlanta, where he had the secret indictments returned so that the Inneses could not escape prosecution.

"Texas officials have informed us," Nelms said, "that the United States supreme court, to which Innes is seeking an appeal, will not grant the appeal unless a writ of error is certified by the state court of appeals. The state court has refused to grant the writ, and Innes is now marking time on a legally granted delay of sixty days. Within that length of time we expect to bring them to Atlanta."

CALL PUBLIC STREET PLACE OF BUSINESS FOR "BLIND TIGER"

When it comes to blind tigers, a public street on which they operate is a place of business, according to a ruling made by Recorder Johnson Monday afternoon.

One Dave Bailey, a negro, was on trial and the officers testified that they had found concealed on Bailey's person five half pints of "Full Ear" corn liquor.

The law says that any person who has whisky for sale at his place of business shall be deemed guilty, etc. The lawyer in Bailey's case confidently pointed out the law.

"Yes, and I am going to hold that Decatur and Peters streets are places of business so far as these walking blind tigers are concerned," announced the recorder.

The case may be appealed and the question settled if a street is a place of business even for a blind tiger.

MUSICAL BENEFIT FOR OLD WOMEN BEGINS MARCH 8

The entertainment for the benefit of the Home for Old Women did not take place Monday evening, as has been published, but will be rendered on the evenings of March 8 and 9.

POWERS TO INTERPRET "DAVID COPPERFIELD"

Leland Powers, the noted dramatist and interpreter, who is to appear at the Auditorium next Thursday night as the eighth number on the Alkahest Lyceum course, has the following to say of his own art and work: "Of all the arts, the most joy-giving, I think, is my own art. A great drama is a masterpieces of art made up of master-moments of life so chosen, grasped and wielded by a master's hand that they reveal the omnipotence of love and good will and the impotence of hate. It is the glory of my art to translate, through living voice and movement, such masterpieces from the printed page back to breathing life."

Mr. Powers will interpret Dickens' most famous book, "David Copperfield," for his program in Atlanta, and the lovers of good literature will look forward with great pleasure to his coming. He comes to Atlanta from Birmingham, where he appears next Wednesday evening, and goes from Atlanta to Greensboro, N. C., Friday. A prelude of splendid music will be given to Mr. Powers' recital here Thursday evening by two noted musicians, about whom announcements will be made later.

OCILLA MINISTER ATTENDING REVIVAL

Rev. W. E. Dear, of Ocilla, Ga., is a very interesting attendant at the Chapman-Alexander meetings now being held in Atlanta.

Dr. Dear, who has been pastor of the Baptist church at Ocilla, and who has just resigned, is receiving glowing testimonials concerning his brilliant service there. A special committee, consisting of Melvin Meeks, R. V. Paulk and C. M. Gordon, was appointed to draft a formal testimonial from the church on Dr. Dear's departure. This committee commends him in the most glowing terms, and expresses deep regret over his resignation. Dr. Dear will remain in Atlanta for several days longer in attendance upon the revival meetings.

PEACHTREE RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FLAMES

An early Monday morning blaze destroyed the home of B. W. Tye, at No. 905 Peachtree street, and damaged the residence of Walter T. Newman, at 911 Peachtree, next door to the Tye house.

Mr. Tye, who was alone in the house, his family being in New York, was awakened by the crackling of burning timbers about 4 o'clock. The blaze had gained too great headway to be checked by the fire department in time to save the structure. Nothing was saved and the loss is estimated at $5,000.

The Newman residence caught fire from the Tye blaze, and was badly damaged.

PLANS BEING DRAWN FOR CONVICT CAMPS

Savannah Cotton Exports.

Savannah, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Other sections of the country may be under the influence of commercial stagnation, but that cannot be said of Savannah, from which more than 40,000 bales of cotton were shipped to foreign lands today.

TO ELECT COMMITTEE.

Representative Beck's Bill Regarding Rules Committee.

Bowdon, Ga., February 22.—(Special.) At the opening of the next session of the legislature Hon. I. H. P. Beck will introduce a bill to amend the rules of the house, so as to make the rules committee, which is really the steering committee of the house, elective by the body, rather than appointive by the speaker of the house. This is not altogether a new plan, for Mr. Beck

I. H. P. BECK,
Representative-elect from Carroll county.

advocated the same rule at the last session of the legislature, and found a strong sentiment in favor of it, and since the last election has been in constant correspondence with many other members relative to its adoption. Mr. Beck is very enthusiastic about the prospects for the adoption of his plan. Under the present plan the speaker appoints this committee, and is himself chairman ex-officio of the committee, and with this power, it is possible for the speaker to practically control all legislation, as its meetings are held behind closed doors, and its secret deliberatiois are not divulged by its members. Thus the speaker, if he so determines, can use his power to effectively throttle any proposed legislation.

Under the plan that Mr. Beck will propose the house will elect this committee, and the committee will elect its own chairman. In this way every member, regardless of whom he supports for speaker, would have equal opportunity to have his measures acted upon by the committee and placed on the calendar. Mr. Beck thinks by the adoption of his plan the secret sessions would be abolished and all basis for the charges of improper motives of the commitee would thus be eliminated, and that the business of the house would be transacted expeditiously, and more efficiently than under the present system, and to support his contention cites the fact that the national house of representatives had to adopt a similar change in order to control its legislation, and says that it is just as expedient for Georgia law-makers.

TINSLEY'S TRIAL WILL BE CALLED IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Fleming D. Tinsley, until recently one of Savannah's foremost cotton exporters and bankers, will be tried in the federal court here tomorrow on a charge of misapplying the funds of the Merchants' National bank, of which he was a director. Following the alleged disclosures, Mr. Tinsley's firm, Tinsley & Hull, was forced to suspend, as it was found to be involved something like two hundred thousand dollars. Because of the prominence of the defendant and the fact that the privilege which Mr. Tinsley is alleged to have abused had been extended to many other cotton exporters, much interest attaches to trial.

Boy Bitten by Dog.

Savannah, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—While Frank Jordan, 11 years old, was skating in Forsyth park today, he was attacked by a vicious dog and badly bitten on the leg. The dog has been placed under observation, as it is believed it may have the rabies.

SHERIFF MANGUM LEAVES TO ATTEND LEO FRANK HEARING

Sheriff C. Wheeler Mangum left Atlanta yesterday afternoon for Washington to attend the supreme court hearing of the Leo M. Frank case. The hearing is set for this afternoon, but it is not expected to come up at that time. There will probably be a delay of several days.

It is charged in the Frank appeal that the sheriff of Fulton county is illegally detaining the prisoner on grounds that his conviction was not brought about through due process of law. This is the sheriff's second trip to Washington in connection with the present status of the famous case.

It is believed, according to news from Washington, that the case will not come up before the supreme court before next Friday.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE OF WEATHER TODAY; HOLIDAY AT BUREAU

Today's weather will be so uncertain that the weather man took advantage of the fact that George Washington was born 183 years ago yesterday and took a holiday to keep from tackling the difficult task of predicting just what sort of weather we'd have this morning.

There was no weather prediction yesterday. The official statement says in explanation, "Official holiday." No one seems to know whether it's going to rain, freeze, clear up or hail. One is as likely as the other.

Grier's almanac, though, forecasted along last August that it would rain this morning.

We are forced, therefore, to accept the word of Mr. Grier.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HONOR MEMORY OF WASHINGTON

The birthday of George Washington was duly celebrated in Atlanta Monday by the closing of the banks, the shortening of the business hours in the federal building, the holding of appropriate exercises in the public schools and the sale to little boys of innumerable toy hatchets made of papier mache.

Washington, according to authentic history, was born on February 22, 1732, exactly 183 years ago.

Many of the school children expected that they would be permitted to celebrate the birthday of the Father of His Country by getting a holiday, but instead they were allowed to hold exercises appropriate for the occasion.

Don't miss the show at the Atlanta. Finest quartette in Georgia. Real negro singing, dancing, comedy. "Old Plantation Days."

Only Seven Crackers Unsigned

EDITED BY DICK JEMISON.

TULLOS SIGNS UP; ONLY SEVEN OUT

Makes Nineteenth Cracker Now in Line—Unsigned Players Not Really Hold-outs.

L. E. Tullos, the third baseman who recently agreed to terms with the Crackers, but objected to signing a contract that was dated on the thirteenth of the month, is now in line.

On Tullos' request, Manager Smith sent him another contract with a different date. The third-sacker immediately sent his contract in signed.

With Tullos signed, the total signed now numbers nineteen, with seven men yet to be signed. Those remaining unsigned are Pitchers Dent and Manning, Catchers Jenkins, Rumler and Jarosick and Shortstop Bisland and Outfielder Moran.

But the signing of these players is a mere matter of formality, and will be concluded in the near future.

MORAN-KIRCHER DEAL COMPLETED

Mere Formality of Contract-Signing Is All That Remains to Complete the Deal.

The deal whereby the Atlanta Southern league club swaps George Kircher to the Oakland Pacific Coast league club for Roy Moran has been concluded.

Manager Smith returned from Little Rock yesterday, where he attended the Southern league meeting, and it was at this meeting that he got waivers from all the other clubs on Kircher.

As Kircher has agreed on terms with the Oakland club and Moran has agreed on terms with the Atlanta club, it is only a mere matter of formality until the two men swap places.

The swap is agreeable to everyone interested. Kircher wants to play on the coast, Moran wants to play in Atlanta. Bill Smith wanted Moran and the Oakland manager wanted Kircher. So there you are.

BOYS' HIGH-MARIST GAME FOR TITLE

Prep League Basketball Season Comes to a Close Today With This Feature Game.

The local prep league will wind up the 1915 basketball season today, Boys' High and Marist tying up in the deciding game of the season, on the Wesley Memorial court, at 3 o'clock.

Both Boys' High and Marist are in good shape for the game, and both are confident of coming out with the long end of the score. The two teams have met once before, Marist proving the victor, defeating the Gilmer Street entries by the count of 30 to 28. This game, however, was at the start of the season, and since that time, Boys' High has improved considerably, and since then have not lost a single game.

Marist also has had an unusually successful season, defeating every team in the league twice with the exception of Boys' High and Donald Fraser. They played a 12-12 tie with Donald Fraser, which will be played over some time after the conclusion of the league.

The game which was scheduled to be played between Peacock and G. M. A. has been postponed indefinitely, as the members of the two teams desired to witness the Boys' High-Marist setto.

The referee of the game has not yet been selected, but it is expect that Ed Blanchard or Fred Hoyt will be the official handler of the indicator.

The game will start promptly at 3 o'clock, and an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

The way the two teams will line up is:

Boys' High.	Pos.	Marist.
B. Adams	R. F.	Dodge
White	L. F.	Harrison
Scott	C.	Cocke
Lowry	R. G.	Hubert
L. Adams	L. G.	Jernigan

ABEL IN SHAPE FOR WHITNEY BOUT

Is Heavier Than Ever—The Bout Will Be for the Title of Atlanta's Favorite Boxer.

There seems to be no doubt whatever that Jake Abel is going to be in shape next Thursday night to put up the fight of his life against Frank Whitney when the pair meet at the Bijou theater.

Abel is training at his home town—Chattanooga—and will not be here until the day of the mill.

"Abel will outweigh Whitney a little," said one pilgrim who got back after a Sunday spent in Chattanooga. "But he isn't fat—not one little bit. He is just larger than he was when he was fighting quite regularly in Atlanta. He has added a couple of years to his age and several inches to his frame, and he is mighty good to look at."

At that, Abel is only 21 years old—just in the first flush of his prime, you might say. He is a clean living chap, and the hard work he is doing now is merely to perfect his wind.

Whitney is older by several years, but he, too, has avoided the bright lights and the things they represent, and is always in shape. This time the stake is important—nothing less than to decide which boy is to be Atlanta's favorite boxer in coming cards. And both boys are in the game for all there is to it, and taking no chances.

Tickets are on sale at the Rex, Chess' place, and the Elkin Drug store at Five Points.

TOUCHARD-WASHBURN WIN INDOOR TENNIS

New York, February 22.—G. F. Touchard and William Washburn won the National Indoor Tennis doubles championship today, defeating Karl Behr and T. R. Pell, in five sets, 7-5, 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-5.

The result was somewhat unexpected as Behr and Pell were the favorites.

Touchard directed the maneuvers, which won the title. While uncertain at times, he outvolleyed and outdrove both Behr and Pell.

Washburn was weak on service, but he made amends by his fine volleying, quick cross-court shots and ability to pick out openings in the rallies.

King Smith won the final of the consolation singles from G. S. Groesbeck, 6-1, 6-2.

MARCAN WILL PLAY WITH LITTLE ROCK CLUB

"Lil" Marcan will play second base and be acting manager for the Little Rock club during the coming season.

The Birmingham Barons asked waivers on Marcan recently, and the Little Rock club refused to waive. They stuck to this decision at the Little Rock meeting, and when the Little Rock club comes to Atlanta, Marcan will be seen with them.

President-Manager Allen will probably turn the affairs of the Little Rock club on the field over to Marcan, supervising with Marcan the running of the team, though the latter will have full sway on the field.

S. V. D. CHALLENGES MARIST QUINTET

The S. V. D. fraternity basketball team, of the Fulton league, challenges the Marist college basketball team for a game to be played at the close of the present prep league, or at any time suitable to the Marist college team. At present the S. V. D. team leads the Fulton league. Arrangements for the game can be made by communicating with V. R. Frank, at Ivy 3083.

Sloan and Hemingway to Play With Moley's Barons; Will Put Them in Running

Manager Bill Smith, of the Crackers, announced yesterday that the Birmingham Barons had secured three players from the St. Louis Browns for the coming season.

Yale Sloan and Edson Hemingway, who played with the Vols last season, are two of the new Vols. Manager Smith passed these two men up in preference to a couple of others that he expects to land from the Browns shortly.

These two players will boost the Barons considerably, strengthening them where they were apparently weak, and the champions will be in the hunt again during the coming season.

Hale, another Brownie rookie, is the third man turned over to Moley.

Pirates Sign Johnson.

Pittsburg, Pa., February 22.—The Pittsburg National league baseball club announced today the purchase of W. G. (Doc) Johnson, first baseman, from the Cleveland Americans. The price paid was not announced.

Johnson has accepted terms and will sign a Pirate contract.

JOHNSON IN HAVANA.

Champion Appears to Be in Good Condition.

Havana, February 22.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, accompanied by his trainers, arrived here today from Cienfuegos. He appeared in good condition and said his only anxiety now was to reach Juarez, in time for his match with Jess Willard, on March 6.

Johnson decared he was determined to push ahead in spite of chaotic conditions in Mexico. It was said that before leaving for Tampico, however, he might give an exhibition bout here with Sam McVey or Jim Johnson.

El Paso, Texas, February 22.—The promoter of the Johnson-Willard fight said today nothing definite had been done regarding the bout, set for March 6, at Juarez, but that it would be postponed if Johnson arrived in poor condition.

How Johnson will reach Juarez is not known here. Villa's delay in attacking Tampico has endangered his plan of entering at that port, and American border officials are on the lookout should he attempt to enter through the United States, on account of the indictment against him in Chicago.

Wilcox's time for one mile was 1 minute and 16 seconds; for five miles, 6 minutes and 47 seconds; for ten miles, 13 minutes and 14 seconds.

The feature of the event was the riding of a youngster weighing about 100 pounds, named J. S. DeMontmollin, of Macon, Ga., on an Excelsior. While Wilcox, the winner of all the races, was steady on the track, his riding did not come up to the Macon man.

ALL CHARGES DENIED BY U. S. JUDGE DAYTON

Declares He Never Favored B. & O. Railroad, Which His Son Represented.

Washington, February 22.—Emphatic denial of impeachment charges pending against him was made today by Federal Judge A. G. Dayton, of West Virginia, before the investigating subcommittee of the house judiciary committee. Judge Dayton testified throughout the afternoon and evening sessions and replied in elaborate detail to the accusations. He prefaced his statement with an expression of gratitude to the committee.

"I have rested for several months under these charges," he said, "I have been subjected to espionage in my private affairs, my debts and financial obligations have been pried into, and a constant series of inflammatory articles has appeared in newspapers. I have endured all this and therefore feel justified in saying that I appreciate the courtesy of the committee in allowing me at least to tender a statement and proof that will dispel these charges."

Attitude of Mine Workers.

The judge dwelt upon the attitude of the United Mine Workers of America toward him, referring to cases in which he decided against that organization and declaring that he simply carried out the law "without any prejudice against union labor."

He said he had in no way sought to displace Judge John H. Jackson, his predecessor on the bench, and specifically denied that he had joined in a campaign with Baltimore and Ohio railroad officials to force Judge Jackson's resignation or impeachment. A letter was put in evidence from former President Roosevelt dated May 26, 1914, in which the former president stated that he instituted an investigation of Judge Jackson on his own responsibility, and appointed Judge Dayton "without solicitation from anyone."

Judge Dayton denied that he had ever shown favoritism to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in litigation in his court. He said that before his appointment to the bench he had been a local attorney for the Baltimore and Ohio, but that his sole fee from the railroad had been an annual pass. Men connected with the road, he said, had opposed him in politics.

Dayton's Son and Railroad.

He reviewed the litigation before his court in which his son, Arthur S. Dayton, appeared as counsel for the road and declared that he had never favored either the railroad or his son in any way.

He likewise denied that he had ever sought to control the selection of jurymen in his court in the interest of the railroad, or that his son had had cases removed from the state courts to his court.

The charge that he had manipulated receiverships and trusteeships in order to give them to his personal and political friends, Judge Dayton said had "not the slightest foundation in fact," and could be disproved by the court records.

A large number of affidavits and documents supporting his statements were laid before the committee by the judge. There was considerable argument about receiving them, but they were finally accepted, although not included in the record.

Judge Dayton said that the "prying into his private loans with banks" was an effort to ruin him financially.

BURGLARS MAKE RAID ON NASHVILLE HOUSES

Nashville, Tenn., February 22.—When several uptown business houses opened this morning it was found that they had been visited by burglars. The jewelry firm of Weinstein & Small reported that the contents of their safe, estimated at $20,000 in jewelry and diamonds, had been taken, the burglars having cut a hole in the ceiling and lowered themselves to the rear of the establishment, where the back of the safe was ripped open.

The Southwestern Publishing company received a visit and lost 400 2-cent stamps. The Presbyterian Advance had the dial sawed from its safe. Officers think the burglars were professionals.

BIG AUDIENCES ENJOY GRAND'S FINE PROGRAM

The return of the Wells management to the Grand yesterday was signaled by an attendance even greater than the house has recorded in the past few weeks. After a thorough renovation and a general tidying up, the Grand presented a most inviting appearance to the multitude that started at 11 o'clock in the morning and kept up a constant stream until late at night. The picture service was pronounced to be excellent by this great gathering of people.

The feature for Monday and for today proved an unusual treat, Charles Richman, Catherine Countiss and a splendid company appearing in Haddon Chambers' interesting play, "The Idler." As a special feature, Mary Pickford, in "The New York Hat," entertained. The Pathe agency supplied another comedy and a travelogue that added much to the value of the show.

Tomorrow and Thursday, "The Chocolate Soldier," with the original cast; Mary Pickford in "The Violin Maker," and another Pathe comedy, will make up the program. Friday and Saturday, Miss Pickford, in "The Inner Circle" will be a novel feature, and the special feature will be "The Will o' the Wisp," and there will be another comedy and educational novelty.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

One of the most delightful events in the history of the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, an organization composed of owners and managers of office buildings and apartment houses, will be the annual banquet of this organization tonight at the Winecoff hotel.

Intense enthusiasm has been manifested in this event for some time, due largely to the capture by Atlanta of the next big national association meeting, which will be held here in September. The national association is rated the second richest organization in the country, and great things are being planned locally for the entertainment of its delegates next fall.

E. M. Horine will be toastmaster and among the speakers at the banquet will be F. G. Tupper, Charles D. McKinney and St. Elmo Massengale.

The officers of the association are C. F. Wilkinson, president; A. W. Martin, vice president; Fred Schaefer, secretary-treasurer.

Gala Event for Realty Men.

The realty men of the city are also planning big doings. They will hold their fifth annual banquet Friday night. An interesting program for this banquet is being planned by Eugene Kelly, who has charge of the banquet.

Expressions denoting increased confidence that there will be an early revival in local real estate activities were heard on all sides Monday. Practically at every real estate, renting and loan office in Atlanta, optimistic expressions were heard.

Increase in Renting.

A number of leading firms are planning to announce several important business leases during this week, including stores of large rentals.

That money conditions are getting better here is indicated strongly in the gradual decrease in the deficit of bank clearings. Last week's deficit was only 8 per cent.

Subdivision Project.

Increased valuation of properties on Whitehall street, in the neighborhood of Stewart avenue, has caused the firm of E. G. Willingham & Sons, lumber dealers, to open an industrial subdivision of their property at No. 540 Whitehall street, Stewart avenue, and the Southern railway.

Through the center of their property a new street has been opened, leading from Whitehall street Each lot will face this street, and the railroad will be in the rear. Sixty-eight 25-foot lots, Ansley & Watkins are in charge of the subdivision project.

Ansley Park Dwelling.

Building permits Monday, in spite of the fact that it was a legal holiday, showed a total of $7,735. W. M. Crumley applied for permit to erect a two-story, brick veneer building, eight rooms, at No. 18 Inman Circle, Ansley Park. The estimated cost of construction is $6,500.

Bobby Walthour Returns; Will Leave Bicycle Game To Deal in Motorcycles

Bobby Walthour, holder of scores of championships in the pace following game, has decided that there is no future for him in the bicycle field, and has made arrangements to join the Indian Motorcycle company, with headquarters in Atlanta.

The popular Atlanta boy arrived in this city late Monday afternoon, his first visit in a number of years. For over ten years he has been riding in Europe, returning to this country in May, just a short time before the war started.

Walthour's record on the track has been a marvelous one. He won the world's championship twice, in London and in Antwerp; the European championship in 1911-12-13; the American championship several times, and only a few weeks ago won the International world's title on an indoor track, defeating Linart, the European champion.

Since his return to this country he has appeared on tracks at Philadelphia, Boston and Brighton Beach, and has won the great majority of the events in which he was entered. He and his family are now living at East Orange.

Walthour's contract for bicycle racing will come to an end early in September, and he plans then to take up the motorcycle game in earnest. He will remain in Atlanta for several days getting in touch with the local situation, and if he finds this field to his liking will probably take the retail agency for the Indian in Atlanta.

POSTPONEMENT OF JOHNSON-WILLARD FIGHT IS ADMITTED

El Paso, Texas, February 22.—Virtual postponement of the Jack Johnson-Jess Willard boxing bout was admitted late today by the promoters. It was believed that Johnson could not arrive at Juarez, Mex., from Havana by way of any Mexican seaport by March 6.

Jack Curley, the promoter, declared, however, that he believed Johnson would arrive at Juarez within a short time after the original date. Carranza officials have announced they will arrest Johnson on the ground that he is a fugitive from justfce in the United States.

Johnson cabled from Cuba today that if it were considered impossible to hold the fight in Juarez the bout could be held at Havana. Curley, however, declared he would not consent since all matters had been arranged at Juarez.

Curley declared again today that no other boxer would be substituted for Johnson. He said that Johnson would need at least a week's training at Juarez before the fight. This week, with the time required for Johnson's trip through Mexico even should he encounter no great difficulty, would make it impossible for him to fight March 6.

Willard is continuing his training at his camp on this side of the boundary.

Georgia Five Challenges Right of A. A. C. Quintet To Championship Claim

The Universityof Georgia basketball team questions the right of the Atlanta Athletic club to claim the basketball championship of the south.

The following letter from Howell Peacock, coach of the team, speaks for itself:

"Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor Constitution: Enclosed find an article published in your paper this morning which does our team an injustice.

"We offered Mr. Bean, who is manager of the Athletic club team, any date which he would choose to come to Athens. We were to play in Atlanta and practically had our engagement closed when we found out that Mr. Bean would not consider a return game in Athens. Therefore we canceled our game in Atlanta. At first he stated that his reasons for not coming to Athens was on account of the players not being able to get off from their work. So eager were we to play them that our captain, Mr. Lester, saw each one of the Athletic club men individually, asking them to make the trip. Each one said that he would come, but still Mr. Bean refused.

"For the past six years we have brought our teams to Atlanta. Do you not think it fair for them to give us a return game? I know that at heart that you are for Atlanta and the Athletic club and rightfully so, but I furthermore know that above all you are fair-minded and since this statement has come out in your paper I hope that you will correct it.

"Having been an old basketball man yourself (for I still remember how you use to shoot fouls), I realize that you are fully aware how much advantage a team has in playing on its own floor.

"Can any team claim the championship when they refuse to play, except in their own back yard? We want you to know that we are not claiming the championship, but more than anything else we want the people to know that Columbus accepted our offer to play in Athens and that the Athletic club positively refused without any good reason.

"Honestly, now, under these conditions, can the club men claim the championship over Columbus, because we won from the latter? Most cordially your friend,

"HOWARD PEACOCK."

CHATTANOOGA HIGH CHALLENGES BOYS' HIGH

The Constitution is in receipt of the following challenge from the Chattanooga High school basketball team:

Dick Jemison, Atlanta Constitution: We have noticed, through the columns of your paper, that the Boys' High school team has won the preparatory school championship of Atlanta in basketball. We, the Chattanooga High school, have likewise won the championship in Chattanooga, and hereby challenge the Boys' High school team to play us a game, preferably in Atlanta, to settle the preparatory school championship of the south. If this proposition meets with favor, we would be glad to take the matter up with the school officials. You will probably remember us as the team that played Tech High school in football last fall.

Thanking you to publish this challenge, and hoping our proposition meets with favor, I am yours respectfully,

L. H. SIMS, Manager.

Howell to Answer Charges of Forgery; Arrives in Atlanta

City Detective Bass Rosser returned last night from Leesburg, Ga., the scene of the murder of several nights ago of A. D. Oliver, known throughout the south as "King of Climax," accompanied by the dead banker's alleged partner, A. M. Howell, who is charged with forgery by a warrant from the municipal court of Atlanta.

Howell was arrested several days ago, when he returned to Leesburg, shortly after the murder of his lifelong friend, Oliver.

Howell is charged with forging checks in Atlanta to the extent of $2,000. He represented himself, it is alleged, to Thomas E. McAfee, a local real estate dealer, as a county school commissioner of Lee county, and "worked" him, it is charged, for several checks. At one time Howell was a school commissioner of Lee county, but, it is said, his term of office expired a number of years ago.

GRAIN BROKERS REFUSE BOOKS TO GOVERNMENT

Chicago, February 22.—Grain brokers engaged in business on the Chicago board of trade have refused to submit their books or records to government officials investigating wheat and flour prices. As a result, it was declared today, the inquiry was at a standstill.

Federal District Attorney Clyne has reported to Attorney General Gregory that the brokers, in declining to submit their books, contended they are under express obligation not to divulge transactions of customers.

The district attorney sought access to the brokers' books to ascertain if the rise in wheat was due to speculation.

NIGHT RIDERS SHOOT INTO NEGRO CABINS

New Madrid, Mo., February 22.—Night riders last night again shot into the cabins occupied by negro farm laborers near here and today the exodus of frightened negroes began anew. According to reports the night riders plan serious action against all negro laborers found in the vicinity after Tuesday night.

Notices posted on various farms warned the negroes to leave before Tuesday night. The night riders comprise a band of dissatisfied white farm laborers who, according to the landowners, seek to drive negro renters and laborers out of the district in the hope of obtaining higher wages or farms at lower rentals.

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY.

Undoubtedly the following suggestion will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

By taking it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's short-comings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, let it be stated that the prescription calls only for three-grain Cadomene tablets, in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration. The tablets contain no opiates or habit-forming drugs, so a physician's prescription is not necessary. Well stocked pharmacies supply these tablets which possess the most wonderful tonic—invigorating powers imaginable. The effect of their use is soon apparent in new strength and nerve force.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

First honors at the Forsyth theater this week belong, beyond the question of a doubt, to the Arnaut brothers, the tumbling clowns who play on the violin, while bounding over each other, rolling on the floor, turning somersaults and performing every possible kind of acrobatic stunt.

Perhaps the best part of their act comes in the nature of an encore, being introduced by one of the brothers as an imitation of "two birds." The whistling of both men is very clever, and the work of the "two birds" brought forth thunderous applause.

There was much real enjoyment afforded the audience by the sketch, entitled "Our Husbands," presented by Bertha Creighton & Co., telling how to "do" your neighbor. The moral of the act is expressed by the "husband" as "do unto others as they would do to you, but do it first and it brings home the bacon."

The sketch tells the story of a man ambitious to get money and not too careful about his methods of getting it. He starts by marrying a girl in England, getting possession of her fortune, $50,000, and then deserts her, and travels to America. Here he meets another girl with more money and marries her. Of course, the two wives meet, and it happens to be on a day when husband has come home with a half million dollars in his pocket which he intends to use in closing a big business deal.

Wife No. 1 "holds husband up" by a threat to tell his wife and to start bigamy proceedings, and "gets the bacon," which comes in the form of $500,000, a reward for keeping silent. Then comes the tag. She divorced hubby three years before.

Alexander and Scott, "from Virginia," dazzle the eye with some stunning costumes, and the partner who impersonates the woman does it well. Her (that is his) voice is not so good, however, and nobody is "stung." Everybody knows it is a man.

"At Woodside Inn" presents Lane, Udell and Ingersoll, two men and a girl. The costumes of the feminine member of the number are the most attractive feature of the offering.

Ed Corelli and Charles Gillette, "The Odd Pair," present a fair number. Henriette de Serris and her company of fifteen professional models closed the bill with reproductions of famous works of art. While it is a good number it did not stir up any great enthusiasm in the afternoon. The Skaters Bijouxve, who open the bill, are the last word in this branch of vaudeville.

All told, the bill this week is only fair.

ROBERT MORAN.

"Old Plantation Days."

(At the Atlanta.)

A chorus of twenty-five negro voices and several very pretty tableaux are the attractive features of "Old Plantation Days," a series of scenes and tableaux taken from "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and presented by the Baldwin-Melville Stock company at the Atlanta theater this week. The story told is, of course, that of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and it is very well portrayed by the company.

The negro chorus includes a quartet, which was encored last night six or eight times. One of the scenes, that of a Mississippi levee, is very picturesque and gives opportunity for a series of amusing negro buck and wing dances. The singing in the death scenes of Eva and St. Claire is of the plaintive, crooning quality which can be produced only by negroes.

The acting of Katherine Talley, as Eva; Hugh Gibson, as Uncle Tom, and Lola May, as Topsy, was very creditable.

"Hypocrites."

(At the Lyric.)

Seats for the engagement of the "Hypocrites" at the Lyric next week may be secured in advance by mail order addressed to the Lyric Theater. The date of the box office opening has not been set at this time, but there has been such a constant demand for reservations that the management has decided to receive mail orders and list them in order in which they are received. All seats will be reserved, both the matinee and evening exhibitions—25 cents buys the best seat for either performance. The matinee is scheduled to start promptly at 3 p. m. and the evening performance at 8:30 p. m.

"Hypocrites" is probably the most-talked-of picture-play that has ever been released. It has created a positive sensation in many cities and is attracting capacity-testing gatherings at the Long Acre theater in New York.

SETON QUITS AS CHIEF OF THE BOY SCOUTS

New York, February 22.—Ernest Thompson Seton, artist and author of books dealing with life in the woods, has retired as chief agent of the Boy Scouts of America, according to an announcement published here today. His official connection with the boy scouts was severed at the last annual meeting, it is stated, which was held in Washington on February 11.

Mr. Seton, who is now in England, was one of the men in the organization whose work seized the imaginations of the boy scouts. He is an expert on the primitive methods of the Indians, can start a fire with a stick of wood and a bow, and knows simple methods of fashioning gourds and weapons from articles likely to be at hand in any forest.

Jack and Bob say:

Personality

"The personal statements in our ads of the last two days had effect. A number of slender men saw the point and came in to be measured for a $35 Spring Suit."

"Some of them had never before had a tape down their backs at less than $50."

Said Bob to Ernest yesterday as they stood gloating over the Spring Shirts, "Ain't they corkers?" And Ernest replied, "Never saw 'em better."

Drinking Men Excusable

Because it is only within recent years that noted scientists first announced that "alcoholic liquors act as a definite poison to brain and body tissues and cause a diseased condition which forces continued indulgence."

There is no excuse now for any high-class man continuing indulgence. In the privacy of his home, hotel, club or at Atlanta Neal Institute, 239 Woodward ave., phone M. 2795, the Neal Treatment will neutralize the effect of this virulent poison, eliminate it from the system, create a loathing for liquor and restore normal conditions in a few days.

CERTIFIED PROPERTY STATEMENTS

A prominent western credit man says: "Perhaps most of us have exalted ideas of our own property, and an applicant for credit might, in good faith, make statements which must be discounted 50 per cent."

If banks and the larger business houses were to insist upon certified statements by public accountants, there is no doubt but that the annual loss from bad debts of some one hundred-odd million dollars would be substantially reduced.

The services of a qualified certified public accountant cost far less than the average loss of money through poor credit.
